WIESEL'S OBSTETRIC CONES.

ANTISEPTIC. ANÆSTHETIC. LUBRICANT.

THESE CONES have been prepared for use in Obstetrical and Gynecological Practice and will also be found valuable in Rectal and Prostatic Diseases. They are made of such shape as to admit of ready and easy introduction into the vagina or rectum, and can be applied without exposure.

IN OBSTETRIC PRACTICE they are indicated where it is desirable to anæsthetize the vaginal canal just prior to the completion of the second stage of labor or before using obstetrical instruments. The Cocoa Butter melts within a few minutes after it is placed in the vagina and speedily admits of the absorption of the Cocaine and the disinfection of the parts, besides lubricating the vaginal canal. These cones will be found to ease the pain of labor due to the pressure upon the maternal soft parts, and the vaginal canal is deadened, as it were, to those lancinating and tearing pangs.

IN GYNECOLOGICAL PRACTICE they are valuable in those cases where pains follow operations upon the womb or vaginal canal, and will relieve the severe pain incident to Uterine Cancer, Vaginismus, Vaginitis, etc.

WHEN INTRODUCED INTO THE VAGINAL CANAL previous to the use of the Speculum they will not only deaden sensibility in those cases where the vagina is tender or inflamed, but they will lubricate the parts so as to admit the free use of the instruments.

IN RECTAL DISEASES they are indicated where there is inflamation or soreness about the rectum or prostrate glands, and they are especially recommended in Primipara, in cases of Rigid Os Uteri, Uterine Cancer, and after operations upon the uterus and vagina, and are invaluable in Hemorrhoids.

FORMULA : Each Cone contains one grain of Cocaine, in addition to Boracic Acid. Oil Gaultheria and Cocoa Butter.

PUT UP IN BOXES CONTAINING ¼ AND ½ DOZEN. PRICE 25 AND 50 CENTS A BOX.

The Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, the first and for many years the only Dental School, offers facilities for the study of Dentistry proper, such as age and experience only can give. Its immense MUSEUM, complete apparatus, large and well-arranged building, and carefully-studied CURRICULUM give to its students great advantages and opportunities, both theoretical and practical, while its age gives its Diploma a dignity far out-ranking all other Colleges—a diploma honorably represented in all civilized countries, and held by the most distinguished members of the Dental Profession.

The fact that Dentistry must be PRACTICALLY TAUGHT is fully recognized, THE COLLEGE INFIRMARY, a most complete, large, and handsome HALL, being daily filled with clean and respectable patients, of a class nearly equal to those of the average dentist. THIS INFIRMARY IS OPEN ALL THE YEAR, students paying an entrance fee which is deducted from those of the regular succeeding course.

The session begins October 1, closing in March. A large corps of Demonstrators, always present, put in actual practice the teachings of all lecturers on Dentistry—leaving nothing undemonstrated. ALL METHODS ARE FULLY TAUGHT, all appliances and apparatus used; the making of instruments and the most elaborate gold and continuous-gum work, and all the cases arising in ordinary practice, with many which are rarely seen, carefully demonstrated.

The College has formed an alliance with the College of Physicians and Surgeons by which its students are privileged to attend all lectures and clinics. The patients of this medical school numbered last year over 40,000.

Graduates of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery are required to attend but ONE SESSION at the College of Physicians and Surgeons prior to presenting themselves as candidates for the degree of M. D. (See Catalogue.) In accordance with the requirements of the National Association of Dental Faculties, the qualifications for entering the Junior Class are a preliminary examination in the ordinary English branches.

TERMS OF GRADUATION.—Attendance on two Winter courses of lectures in this College; as equivalent to one of these we accept ONE COURSE in any reputable Dental College. GRADUATES IN MEDICINE who have attended one Winter Course in this College and have passed one year, inclusive of the Winter Course, in the practical work of the Infirmary and Laboratory, will be permitted to present themselves for graduation.

BENEFICIARY STUDENTS.—Each State Dental Society is privileged to send one Beneficiary Student to this College at one-half the regular tuition fees. This has been for some years an established feature of this College.

FEES.—Matriculation (paid once only), $5.00. Tuition fees, $100.00. Diploma fee, $30.00. Dissecting fee, $10.00.

Students corresponding with the Dean will please be careful to give full address, and direct their letters to

PREFACE.

In accordance with a request from leading members of the profession represented in this work, we present this our first issue, and trust it will fill a long needed want. Every precaution has been taken to make the work perfect in all its details, and we trust our patrons will call our attention to any omission or mistakes so they can be remedied hereafter.

Returning our sincere thanks to those who have aided us in collecting the necessary information, &c.

TYREE'S HYPOPHOSPHITES.

(IN POWDER.)

This is a preparation of the salts of Lime, Soda, Potash, Iron and Manganese, repurified, reduced to a powder, and incorporated with a superior pepsin. While this may be considered a new preparation of the Hypophosphites, it has been before the profession for four years, and during that time has been used by many of the leading specialists and more prominent hospitals in the United States, with the view to determine whether the virtues of Hypophosphite can be developed to a better advantage by this combination than the diluted forms usually employed. These experiments (without a single exception) go to show that better results were obtained from one ounce of my preparation than from three pint bottles of the liquid preparations.

These facts prompt me to call your attention to the superior therapeutical value of my preparation of Hypophosphites in powdered form.

By this mode of preparing these agents they are strictly and chemically pure and are not liable to deteriorate from exposure to thermal changes, to the atmosphere or moisture, and by intimately combining with them a pure article of pepsin, the first process of digestion will be promoted instead of being retarded as is often the case, by reason of the presence of the saccharine vehicles ordinarily used to suspend the hypophosphites in syrup, and which must accompany them into the stomach when administered.

My preparation is supplied to the trade in bulk so as to be readily dispensed in quantities required.

I will be glad to have you try this preparation and determine for yourself its superiority over the syrups ordinarily in use.

The usual dose is from five to twenty grains in milk or water after meals and at bed time.

NATIONAL MEDICAL ASSOCIATIONS.

MARYLAND DEPARTMENT.

AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION.

This association had its origin in May, 1846, in New York, where an assemblage of medical men, seeing the need of such an association took the steps which resulted in the organization as it stands to-day. The second meeting was in Philadelphia, in May, 1847, at which time the name American Medical Association was assumed. The first annual meeting took place in Baltimore, May 2, 1848. Since then the meetings have been held annually in the large cities, excepting in the years 1861 and '62, when no meetings were convened.

The delegates are appointed from any permanent State medical societies. District and county societies are represented when recognized by the State associations.

The medical department of the army and navy of the United States send four delegates each. Persons who have been delegates become permanent members without the voting privilege. Any physician in good standing can become a member on being vouched for by three active or permanent members. All members are assessed five dollars annually, whether present or absent, and any members who fail to pay assessment three years successively are struck off the rolls. The judicial council numbers twenty-one members and decides all questions of an ethical or judicial character; their decision is final.

Two prizes are offered annually for essays on medical subjects. Value $100 each, essay to be sent in April. Officers for 1888 are:

President—W. W. Dawson, M. D.....Ohio.
1st Vice President—W. L. Schenck, M. D.....Kansas.
2d " Frank Woodbury, M. D .....Pennsylvania.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF SCIENCE.

Extracts from the Constitution relating to Members, Fellows, Life Members, Patrons and Assessments.

ART. 3. Any person may become a member of the association upon recommendation in writing by two members or fellows, and election by the council.

(Blank forms for recommendation to membership will be furnished on application to the Permanent Secretary).

ART. 4. Fellows shall be elected by the council from such of the members as are professionally engaged in science, or have by their labors aided in advancing science. The election of fellows shall be by ballot and a majority vote of the members of the council at a designated meeting of the council.

(Special blanks for the recommendation of fellows to the council can be had on application to the Permanent Secretary).

ART. 5. Any person paying to the association the sum of one thousand dollars shall be classed as a patron, and shall be entitled to all the privileges of a member and to all its publications.

ART. 7. The name of any member or fellow two years in arrears for annual dues shall be erased from the list of the association, provided that two notices of indebtedness, at an interval of at least three months, shall have been given; and no such person shall be restored until he has paid his arrearages or has been re-elected.

ART. 34. The admission fee for members shall be five dollars in addition to the annual assessment. On the election of any member as a fellow an additional fee of two dollars shall be paid.

ART. 35. The annual assessment shall be three dollars.

ART. 36. Any member or fellow who shall pay the sum of fifty dollars to the association, at one time, shall become a life member, and as such shall be exempt from all further assessments, and shall be entitled to the proceedings of the association. All money thus received shall be invested as a permanent fund, the income of which, during the life of the member, shall form a part of the general fund of the association; but after his death, shall be used only to assist in original research, unless otherwise directed by unanimous vote of the council. (New members becoming life members must pay their admission fee of five dollars in addition to the fifty dollars).

ART. 37. All admission fees and assessments must be paid to the Permanent Secretary, who shall give proper receipts for the same.

Papers.

ART. 28. All members and fellows must forward to the Permanent Secretary, as early as possible, and when practicable before the convening of the association, full titles of all the papers which they propose to present during the meeting, with a statement of the time that each will occupy in delivery, and also such abstracts of their contents as will give a general idea of their nature; and no title shall be referred by the council to the sectional committee until an abstract of the paper or the paper itself has been received.

ART. 31. Authors must prepare their papers or abstracts ready for the press, and these must be in the hands of the secretaries of the sections before the final adjournment of the meeting, otherwise only the titles will appear in the printed volume. The council shall have power to order the printing of any paper by abstract or title only.

ART. 24. A paper shall not be read in any section or sub-section until it has been received from the council and placed on the programme of the day by the sectional committee.

Permanent Secretary,
Salem, Mass.

NEW MEDICAL LAWS FOR THE STATE OF MARYLAND.

An Act to promote the health and regulate the practice of Medicine in the State of Maryland.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That every person practicing medicine in any of its departments in this State shall possess the qualifications required by this Act. If a graduate of medicine, he or she shall present his or her diploma to the State Board of Health for verification as to its genuineness, or furnish such other evidence as may be satisfactory to the said board of health that he or she is a bona fide graduate of a respectable medical college, authorized by law to give diplomas. If the diploma has been issued by a legally authorized medical college of good reputation and standing. And if the person named therein be the person claiming or presenting the same, the State Board of Health shall issue its certificate to that effect, signed by the President and Secretary of the said board, and such certificate shall be conclusive as to the right of the lawful holder of same to practice medicine in this State; provided, that the provisions of this Act shall not apply to any person who has been practicing continously within this State for ten years before the passage of this Act.

SEC. 2. And be it enacted, That the verification of the diploma shall consist in the affidavit of the holder or applicant that he or she is the lawful posessor of the same, and that he or she is the person therein named; and for the purpose of this Act the said State Board of Health, or a majority thereof, is authorized to administer oaths, or examine under oath, any person applying for the certificate of the board. Graduates may present their diplomas, with affidavits as to the genuineness of the same taken before any person authorized to administer oaths in this State, attested under the hand and official seal of such officer, if he has a seal, by letter or by proxy. And the said State Board of Health shall, if satisfied that the diploma has been issued by a legally authorized Medical College of good reputation and standing, and that the applicant is the lawful possessor of the same, issue a certificate to the same, as though the owner of the diploma were present.

SEC. 3. And be it enacted, That any person not a graduate of any legally authorized Medical College, but who is practicing in the State when this Act shall take effect, shall present himself before the State Board of Health for such examination as the said board shall require; and if the said examination shall be satisfactory to the examiners, the said board shall issue its certificate in accordance with the facts, and the lawful holder of such certificate shall be entitled to all the rights and privileges herein mentioned.

SEC. 4. And be it enacted, That the said State Board of Health shall receive a fee of one dollar for every diploma examined and certificate issued thereon, or from every graduate who applies for the certificate of the board; and every candidate not a graduate, applying for a certificate shall pay a fee of five dollars, which shall be returned to the applicant if a certificate be refused; all fees received by the said board shall be applied to the expenses of carrying out the provisions of this Act, and the excess thereof, if any, shall be used by the State Board of Health, an account of which and how disbursed, shall be rendered by the said State Board of Health, to the Governor of the State of Maryland.

SEC. 5. And be it enacted, That every person holding certificate from the State Board of Health shall have it recorded in a book to be kept for that purpose in the office of the Clerk of the County, or the Clerk of the Circuit Court of Baltimore City, as the case may be, in which he or she resides, and the record shall be endorsed on the certificate; any person removing to another locality other than that in which his certificate is recorded shall procure an endorsement to that effect, and shall in like manner have his or her certificate recorded in the County or City of Baltimore, as the case may be, to which he or she removes; and the holder of the certificate shall pay to the County Clerk or Clerk of the Circuit Court of Baltimore City, as the case may be, the usual fees for making the record.

SEC. 6. And be it enacted, That any person shall be regarded as practicing Medicine within the meaning of this Act who shall profess publicly to be a physician and proscribe for the sick, or who shall append to his name the letters M. D.; but nothing in this Act shall be construed to prohibit students from proscribing under the supervision of preceptors, or to prohibit gratuitous services in cases of emergency; and this Act shall not apply to commissioned Surgeons in the United States Army, Navy or Marine Hospital service, nor shall it apply to Physicians and Surgeons not resident in this State, who may be called in consulation within this State.

SEC. 7. And be it enacted, That the State Board of Health may refuse certificates to persons presenting diplomas from colleges or schools not in good standing, or to individuals guilty of unprofessional or dishonorable conduct, or of criminal practice, and they may revoke certificate for like causes; no such certificate shall be refused to any such person because he or she may belong to a different recognized school of medicine from any member of said board.

SEC. 8. And be it enacted, That any person practicing medicine in this State without complying with the provisions of this Act, or who shall advertise himself to the public as skilled in the treatment of any particular disease or injury without having secured and recorded the certificate of the State Board of Health, or who shall by writing, printing, or any method, publicly profess to cure or treat diseases, injury or deformity, by any drug, nostrum, manipulation or other expedient, without having complied with the provisions of this Act, or who shall represent himself as being authorized to practice medicine or surgery in this State, when in fact he is not so authorized shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, or be imprisoned in jail not less than three months nor more than twelve months, or be both fined and imprisoned at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 9. And be it enacted, That any person filing or attempting to file as his own the diploma or certificate of another, or a forged diploma or forged affidavit of identification shall be guilty of the crime of forgery, and being convicted thereof shall be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary or house of correction at the discretion of the court, for not less than two years, or by a fine of not less than two hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars or both at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 10. And be it enacted, That this Act shall take effect from the date of its passage.

Approved, April 5th, 1888.

MEDICAL ASSOCIATIONS OF MARYLAND.

MEDICAL AND CHIRURGICAL FACULTY.

Incorporated by an Act of the Legislature of the State of Maryland Jan. 29th, 1799.

The first meeting was held at Annapolis, in June of that year.

The object of this faculty is the "Advancement of medical knowledge, elevation of professional character, the protection of the professional interest of its members, the extension of the bounds of medical science, the promotion of all measures adapted to the relief of suffering, the improvement of the health and the protection of the lives of the community."

The memberships of this faculty are permanent, delegate and honorary. "Any gentleman, a graduate of a respectable school of medicine, who is in good professional standing, or who shall have passed a satisfactory examination before the board of examiners, signed the constitution and by-laws, and paid the sum of ten dollars, shall be considered a permanent member, and shall secure from the treasurer a certificate of membership, properly signed, and a copy of the transactions of each year."

"Delegate members will be received from local and county medical societies in the ratio of one to ten of the regular membership of said societies, upon filing proper credentials, registering and paying three dollars each, which will entitle them to all the privileges and impose upon them the obligations of permanent members for the current year; provided, however, no one will be received as a delegate member who has been refused permanent membership in the faculty."

"The title of honorary member may be conferred upon regular physicians of eminence residing in the State, upon recommendation of the examining board."

Any member failing to pay his dues for one year shall be deprived of the privileges of the faculty. Should he fail to pay two years thereafter his name shall be dropped from the roll of membership.

CODE OF MEDICAL ETHICS.

OF THE DUTIES OF PHYSICIANS TO THER PATIENTS, AND OF THE OBLIGATIONS OF PATIENTS TO THEIR PHYSICIANS.

— o —

ART. I.—Duties of Physicians to their Patients.

ARTICLE 1. A physician should not only be ever ready to obey the calls of the sick, but his mind ought also to be imbued with the greatness of his mission, and the responsibility he habitually incurs in its discharge. These obligations are the more deep and enduring, because there is no tribunal other than his own conscience to adjudge penalties for carelessness or neglect. Physicians should, therefore, minister to the sick with due impressions of the importanee of their office; reflecting that the ease, the health, and the lives of those committed to their charge, depend on their skill, attention, and fidelity. They should study, also, in their deportment, so to unite tenderness with firmness, and condescension with authority, as to inspire the minds of their patients with gratitude, respect, and confidence.

Sec. 2. Every case committed to the charge of a physician should be treated with attention, steadiness, and humanity. Reasonable indulgence should be granted to the mental imbecility and caprices of the sick. Secrecy and delicacy, when required by peculiar circumstances, should be strictly observed; and the familiar and confidential intercourse to which physicians are admitted in their professional visits, should be used with discretion, and with the most scrupulous regard to fidelity and honor. The obligation of secrecy extends beyond the period of professional services; none of the privacies of personal and domestic life, no infirmity of disposition or flaw of character observed during professional attendance should ever be divulged by the physician except when he is imperatively required to do so. The force and necessity of this obligation are indeed so great, that professional men have, under certain circumstances, been protected in their observance of the secrecy by courts of justice.

Sec. 3. Frequent visits to the sick are in general requisite, since they enable the physician to arrive at a more perfect knowledge of the disease—to meet promptly every change which may occur, and also tend to preserve the confidence of the patient. But unnecessary visits are to be avoided, as they give useless anxity to the patient, tend to diminish the authority of the physician, and render him liable to be suspected of interested motives.

Sec. 4. A physician should not be forward to make gloomy prognostications, because they savor of empiricism, by magnifying the importance of his services in the treatment or cure of the disease. But he should not fail, on proper occasions, to give to the friends of the patient timely notice of danger when it really occurs; and even to the patient himself, if absolutely necessary. This office, however, is so peculiarly alarming when executed by him, that it ought to be declined whenever it can be assigned to any other person of sufficient judgment and delicacy. For the physician should be the minister of hope and comfort to the sick; that, by such cordials to the drooping spirit, he may smooth the bed of death, revive expiring life, and counteract the depressing influence of those maladies which often disturb the tranquility of the most resigned in their last moments. The life of a sick person can be shortened not only by the acts, but also by the words or the manner of a physician. It is, therefore, a sacred duty to guard himself carefully in this respect, and to avoid all things which have a tendency to discourage the patient and to depress his spirits.

SEC. 5. A physician ought not to abandon a patient because the case is deemed incurable; for his attendance may continue to be highly useful to the patient, and comforting to the relatives around him, even in the last period of a fatal malady, by alleviating pain and other symptoms, and by soothing mental anguish. To decline attendance, under such circumstances, would be sacrificing to fanciful delicacy and mistaken liberality, that moral duty which is independent of, and far superior to, all pecuniary consideration.

SEC. 6. Consultations should be promoted in difficult or protracted cases, as they give rise to confidence, energy, and more enlarged views in practice.

SEC. 7. The opportunity which a physician not unfrequently enjoys of promoting and strengthening the good resolutions of his patients, suffering under the consequences of vicious conduct, ought never to be neglected. His counsels, or even remonstrances, will give satisfaction, not offense, if they be proffered with politeness, and evince a genuine love of virtue, accompanied by a sincere interest in the welfare of the person to whom they are addressed.

ART. II.—Obligations of Patients to their Physicians.

SECTION 1.—The members of the medical profession; upon whom is enjoined the performance of so many important and arduous duties toward the community, and who are required to make so many sacrifices of comfort, ease and health, for the welfare of those who avail themselves of their services, certainly have a right to expect and require that their patients should entertain a just sense of the duties which they owe to their medical attendants.

SEC: 2, The first duty of a patient is to select as his medical adviser one who has received a regular professional education. In no trade or occupation do mankind rely on the skill of an untaught artist; and in medicine, confessedly the most difficult and intricate of the sciences, the world ought not to suppose that knowledge is intutive.

SEC. 3. Patients should prefer a physician whose habits of life are regular, and who is not devoted to company, pleasure, or to any pursuit incompatible with his professional obligations. A patient should, also, confide the care of himself and family, as much as possible, to one physician; for a medical man who has become acquainted with the peculiarities of constitution, habits, and predispositions of those he attends, is more likely to be successful in his treatment than one who does not possess that knowledge.

A patient who has thus selected his physician should always apply for advice in what may appear to him trivial cases, for the most fatal results often supervene on the slightest accidents. It is of still more importance that he should apply for assistance in the forming stage of violent diseases; it is to a neglect of this precept that medicine owes much of the uncertainty and imperfection with which it has been reproached.

SEC. 4. Patients should faithfully and unreservedly communicate to their physician the supposed cause of their disease. This is the more important, as many diseases of a mental origin simulate those depending on external causes, and yet are only to be cured by ministering to the mind diseased. A patient should never be afraid of thus making his physician his friend and adviser; he should always bear in mind that a medical man is under the strongest obligations of secrecy. Even the female sex should never allow feelings of shame or delicacy to prevent their disclosing the seat, symptoms and causes of complaints peculiar to them. However commendable a modest reserve may be in the common occurences of life, its strict observance in medicine is often attended with the most serious consequences, and a patient may sink under a painful and loathsome disease, which might have been readily prevented had timely intimation been given to the physician.

SEC. 5. A patient should never weary his physician with a tedious detail of events or matters not appertaining to his disease. Even as relates to his actual symptoms, he will convey much more real information by giving clear answers to interrogatories, than by the most minute account of his own framing. Neither should he obtrude upon his physician the details of his business nor the history of his family concerns.

SEC. 6. The obedience of a patient to the prescriptions of his physician should be prompt and implicit. He should never permit his own crude opinions as to their fitness to influence his attention to them. A failure in one particular may render an otherwise judicious treatment dangerous and even fatal. This remark is equally applicable to diet, drink and exercise. As patients become convalescent they are very apt to suppose that the rules prescribed for them may be disregarded, and the consequence, but too often, is a relapse. Patients should never allow themselves to be persuaded to take any medicine whatever that may be recommended to them by the self-constituted doctors and doctresses who are so frequently met with, and who pretend to possess infallible remedies for the cure of every disease. However simple some of their prescriptions may appear to be, it often happens that they are productive of much mischief, and in all cases they are injurious, by contravening the plan of treatment adopted by the physician.

SEC. 7. A patient should, if possible, avoid even the friendly visits of a physician who is not attending him—and when he does receive them, he should never converse on the subject of his disease, as an observation may be made, without any intention of interference, which may destroy his confidence in the course he is pursuing, and induce him to neglect the directions prescribed to him. A patient should never send for a consulting physician without the express consent of his own medical attendant. It is of great importance that physicians should act in concert; for, although their mode of treatment may be attended with equal success when applied singly, yet conjointly they are very likely to be productive of disastrous results.

SEC. 8. When a patient wishes to dismiss his physician, justice and common courtesy require that he should declare his reasons for so doing.

SEC. 9. Patients should always, when practicable, send for their physician in the morning, before his usual hour of going out; for, by being early aware of the visits he has to pay during the day, the physician is able to apportion his time in such a manner as to prevent an interference of engagements. Patients should also avoid calling on their medidical adviser unnecessarily during the hours devoted to meals or sleep. They should always be in readiness to receive the visits of their physician, as the detention of a few minutes is often of serious inconvenience to him.

SEC. 10. A patient should, after his recovery, entertain a just and endearing sense of the value of the services rendered him by his physician; for these are of such a character that no mere pecuniary acknowledgement can repay or cancel them.

OF THE DUTIES OF PHYSICIANS TO EACH OTHER, AND TO THE PROFESSION AT LARGE.

ART. I.—Duties for the support of professional character.

SECTION 1. Every individual, on entering the profession, as he becomes thereby entitled to all its privileges and immunities, incurs an obligation to exert his best abilities to maintain its dignity and honor, to exalt its standing, and to extend the bounds of its usefulness. He should, therefore, observe strictly such laws as are instituted for the government of its members; should avoid all contumelious and sarcastic remarks relative to the faculty as a body; and while, by unwearied diligence, he resorts to every honorable means of enriching the science, he should entertain a a due respect for his seniors, who have, by their labors, brought it to the elevated condition in which he finds it.

SEC. 2. It is not in accord with the interests of the public or the honor of the profession that any physician or medical teacher should examine or sign diplomas or certificates of proficiency for, or otherwise be specially concerned with, the graduation of persons whom they have good reason to believe intend to support and practice any exclusive and irregular system of medicine.

SEC. 3. There is no profession from the members of which greater purity of character and a higher standard of moral excellence are required, than the medical; and to attain to such eminence is a duty every physician owes alike to his profession and to his patients. It is due to the latter, as without it he cannot command their respect and confidence, and to both, because no scientific attainments can compensate for the want of correct moral principles. It is also incumbent upon the faculty to be temperate in all things, for the practice of physic requires the unremitting exercise of a clear and vigorous understanding; and, on emergencies, for which no professional man should be unprepared, a steady hand, an acute eye, and an unclouded head may be essential to the well-being, and even to the life, of a fellow-creature.

SEC. 4. It is derogatory to the dignity of the profession to resort to public advertisements, or private cards, or handbills, inviting the attention of individuals affected with particular diseases—publicly offering advice and medicine to the poor gratis, or promising radical cures; or to publish cases and operations in the daily prints, or suffer such publications to be made; to invite laymen to be present at operations, to boast of cures and remedies, to adduce certificates of skill and success, or to perform any other similar acts. These are the ordinary practices of emperics, and are highly reprehensible in a regular physician.

SEC. 5. Equally derogatory to professional character is it for a physician to hold a patent for any surgical instrument or medicine; or to dispense a secret nostrum, whether it be the composition or exclusive property of himself or of others. For, if such nostrum be of real efficacy, any concealment regarding it is inconsistent with beneficence and professional liberality; and if mystery alone give it value and importance, such craft implies either disgraceful ignorance or fraudulent avarice. It is also reprehensible for physicians to give certificates attesting the efficacy of patent or secret medicines, or in any way to promote the use of them.

ART. II.—Professional services of physicians to each other.

SEC. 1. All practitioners of medicine, their wives, and their children while under the paternal care, are entitled to the gratuitous services of any one or more of the faculty residing near them, whose assistance may be desired. A physician afflicted with disease is usually an incompetent judge of his own case; and the natural anxiety and solicitude which he experiences at the sickness of a wife, a child, or any one who, by the ties of consanguinity, is rendered peculiarly dear to him, tend to obscure his judgment, and produce timidity and irresolution in his practice. Under such circumstances, medical men are peculiarly dependent upon each other, and kind offices and professional aid should always be cheerfully and gratuitously afforded. Visits ought not, however, to be obtruded officiously; as such unasked civility may give rise to embarrassment, or interfere with that choice on which confidence depends. But, if a distant member of the faculty, whose circumstances are affluent, request attendance, and an honorarium be offered, it should not be declined ; for no pecuniary obligation ought to be imposed, which the party receiving it would wish not to incur.

ART. III.—Of the duties of physicians as respects vicarious offices.

SEC. 1. The affairs of life, the pursuit of health, and the various accidents and contingencies to which a medical man is peculiarly exposed. sometimes require him temporarily to withdraw from his duties to his patients, and to request some of his professional brethren to officiate for him. Compliance with this request is an act of courtesy, which should always be performed with the utmost consideration for the interest and character of the family physician, and when exercised for a short period all the pecuniary obligations for such services should be awarded to him. But if a member of the profession neglect his business in quest of pleasure and amusement,he cannot be considered as entitled to the advantages of the frequent and long continued exercise of this fraternal courtesy without awarding to the physician who officiates the fees arising from the discharge of his professional duties.

In obstetrical and important surgical cases, which give rise to unusual fatigue, anxiety and responsibility, it is just that the fees accruing therefrom should be awarded to the physician who officiates.

ART. IV.—Of the duties of physicians in regard to consultations.

SEC. 1. A regular medical education furnishes the only presumptive evidence of professional abilities and acquirements, and ought to be the only acknowledged right of an individual to the exercise and honors of his profession. Nevertheless, as in consultations the good of the patient is the sole object in view, and this is often dependent on personal confidence, no intelligent regular practitioner, who has a licence to practice from some medical board of known and acknowledged respectability, recognized by the Association, and who is in good moral and professional standing in the place in which he resides, should be fastidiously excluded from fellowship, or his aid refused in consultation, when it is requested by the patient. But no one can be considered as a regular practitioner or a fit associate in consultation, whose practice is based on an exclusive dogma, to the rejection of the accumulated experience of the profession, and of the aids actually furnished by anatomy, physiology, pathology and organic chemistry.

SEC. 2. In consultations, no rivalship or jealously should be indulged; candor, probity, and all due respect should be exercised toward the physician having charge of the case.

SEC. 3. In consultations, the attending physician should be the first to propose the necessary questions to the sick; after which the consulting physician should have the opportunity to make such further inquiries of the patient as may be necessary to satisfy him of the true character of the case. Both physicians should then retire to a private place for deliberation; and the one first in attendance should communicate the directions agreed upon to the patient or his friends, as well as any opinions which it may be thought proper to express. But no statement or discussion of it should take place before the patient or his friends, except in the presence of all the faculty attending, and by their common consent; and no opinions or prognostications should be delivered which are not the result of previous deliberation and concurrence.

SEC. 4. In consultations, the physician in attendance should deliver his opinion first; and when there are several consulting, they should deliver their opinions in the order in which they have been called. No decision, however, should restrain the attending physician from making such variations in the mode of treatment as any subsequent unexpected change in the character of the case may demand. But such variation, and the reasons for it, ought to be carefully detailed at the next meeting in consultation. The same privilege belongs also to the consulting physician if he is sent for in an emergency, when the regular attendant is out of the way, and similar explanation must be made by him at the next consultation.

SEC. 5. The utmost punctuality should be observed in the visits of physicians when they are to hold consultations together, and this is generally practicable, for society has been considerate enough to allow the plea of a professional engagement to take precedence of all others, and to be an ample reason for the relinquishment of any present occupation. But as professional engagements may sometimes interfere, and delay one of the parties, the physician who first arrives should wait for his associate a reasonable period, after which the consultation should be considered as postponed to a new appointment. If it be the attending physician who is present, he will, of course, see the patient and prescribe; but if it be the consulting one, he should retire, except in case of emergency, or when he has been called from a considerable distance, in which latter case he may examine the patient, and give his opinion in writing and under seal, to be delivered to his associate.

SEC. 6. In consultations, theoretical discussions should be avoided, as occasioning perplexity and loss of time. For there may be much diversity of opinion concerning speculative points, with perfect agreement in those modes of practice which are founded, not on hypothesis, but on experience and observation.

SEC. 7. All discussions in consultation should be held as secret and confidential. Neither by words nor manner should any of the parties to a consultation assert or insinuate that any part of the treatment pursued did not receive his assent. The responsibility must be equally divided between the medical attendants—they must equally share the credit of success as well as the blame of failure.

SEC. 8. Should any irreconcilable diversity of opinion occur when several physicians are called upon to consult together, the opinion of the majority should be considered as decisive; but if the numbers be equal on each side, then the decision should rest with the attending physician. It may, moreover, sometimes happen that two physicians cannot agree in their views of the nature of the case and the treatment to be pursued. This is a circumstance much to be deplored, and should always be avoided, if possible, by mutual concessions, as far as they can be justified by a conscientious regard for the dictates of judgment. But in the event of its occurrence, a third physician should, if practicable, be called to act as umpire; and, if circumstances prevent the adoption of this course, it must be left to the patient to select the physician in which he is most willing to confide. But, as every physician relies upon the rectitude of his judgment, he should, when left in the minority, politely and consistently retire from any further deliberation in the consultation, or participation in the management of the case.

SEC. 9. As circumstances sometimes occur to render a special consultation desirable, when the continued attendance of two physycians might be objectionable to the patient, the member of the faculty whose assistance is required in such cases should sedulously guard against all future unsolicited attendance. As such consultations require an extraordinary portion of both time and attention, at least a double honorarium may be reasonably expected.

SEC. 10. A physician who is called upon to consult should observe the most honorable and scrupulous regard for the character and standing of the practitioner in attendance; the practice of the latter, if necessary, should be justified as far as it can be, consistently with a conscientious regard for truth, and no hint or insinuation should be thrown out which could impair the confidence reposed in him, or affect his reputation. The consulting physician should also carefully refrain from any of those extraordinary attentions or assiduities which are too often practiced by the dishonest for the base purpose of gaining applause, or ingratiating themselves into the favor of families and individuals.

ART. V.—Duties of physicians in cases of interference.

SECTION 1. Medicine is a liberal profession, and those admitted into its ranks should found their expectations of practice upon the extent of their qualifications, not on intrigue or artifice.

SEC. 2. A physician, in his intercourse with a patient under the care of another practitioner, should observe the strictest caution and reserve. No meddling inquiries should be made—no disingenuous hints given relative to the nature and treatment of his disorder; nor any course of conduct pursued that may directly or indirectly tend to diminish the trust reposed in the physician employed.

SEC. 3. The same circumspection and reserve should be observed when, from motives of business or friendship, a physician is prompted to visit an individual who is under the direction of another practitioner. Indeed, such visits should be avoided, except under peculiar circumstances; and when they are made, no particular inquiries should be instituted relative to the nature of the disease, or the remedies employed, but the topics of conversation should be as foreign to the case as circumstances will admit.

SEC. 4. A physician ought not take charge of or prescribe for a patient who has recently been under the care of another member of the faculty in the same illness, except in cases of sudden emergency, or in consultation with the physician previously in attendance, or when the latter has relinquished the case, or been regularly notified that his services are no longer desired. Under such circumstances, no unjust and illiberal insinuations should be thrown out in relation to the conduct or practice previously pursued, which should be justified as far as candor and regard for truth and probity will permit; for it often happens that patients become dissatisfied when they do not experience immediate relief, and, as many diseases are naturally protracted, the want of success, in the first stage of treatment, affords no evidence of a lack of professional knowledge and skill.

SEC. 5. When a physician is called to an urgent case, because the family attendent is not at hand, he ought, unless his assistance in consultation be desired, to resign the care of the patient to the latter immediately on his arrival.

SEC. 6. It often happens in the case of sudden illness, or of recent accidents and injuries, owing to the alarm and anxiety of friends, that a number of physicians are simultaneously sent for. Under these circumstances, courtesy should assign the patient to the first who arrives, who should select from those present any additional assistance that he may deem uecessary. In all such cases, however, the practitioner who officiates should request the family physician, if there be one, to be called, and, unless his further attendance be requested, should resign the case to the latter on his arrival.

SEC. 7. When a physcian is called to the patient of another practitioner, in consequence of the sickness or absence of the latter, he ought, on the return or recovery of the regular attendant and with the consent of the patient, to surrender the case.

[The expression, "patient of another practitioner," is understood to mean a patient who may have been under the charge of another practitioner at the time of the attack of sickness, or departure from home of the latter, or who may have called for his attendance during his absence or sickness, or in any other manner given it to be understood that he regarded the said physician as his regular medical attendant.]

SEC. 8. A physician, when visiting a sick person in the country, may be desired to see a neighboring patient who is under the regular direction of another physician, in consequence of some sudden change or aggravation of symytoms. The conduct to be pursued on such an occasion is to give advice adapted to present circumstances; to interfere no further than is absolutely necessary with the general plan of treatment: to assume no further direction unless it be expressly desired; and, in this last case, to request an immediate consultation with the practitioner previously employed.

SEC. 9. A wealthy physician should not give advice gratis to the affluent; because his doing so is an injury to his professional brethren. The office of a physician can never be supported as an exclusively beneficient one; and it is defrauding, in some degree, the common funds for its support, when fees are dispensed with which might justly be claimed.

SEC. 10. When a physician who has been engaged to attend a case of midwifery is absent, another is sent for, if delivery is accomplished during the attendance of the latter, he is entitled to the fee, but should resign the patient to the practitioner first engaged.

ART. VI.—Of Differences Between Physicians.

SECTION 1. Diversity of opinion and opposition of interest may, in the medical as in other professions, sometimes occasion controversy and even contention. Whenever such cases unfortunately occur, and cannot be immediately terminated, they should be referred to the arbitration of a sufficient number of physicians or a Court-Medical.

SEC. 2. As peculiar reserve must be maintained by physicians toward the public, in regard to professional matters, and as there exists numerous points in medical ethics and etiquette through which the feelings of medical men may be painfully assailed in their intercourse with each other, and which cannot be understood or appreciated by general society, neither the subject matter of such differences nor the adjudiction of the arbitrators should be made public, as publicity in a case of this nature may be personally injurious to the individuals concerned, and can hardly fail to bring discredit on the faculty.

ART VII.—Of Pecuniary Acknowledgments.

Some general rules should be adopted by the faculty, in every town or district, relative to pecuniary acknowledgments from their patients; and it should be deemed a point of honor to adhere to these rules with as much uniformity as varying circumstances will admit.

OF THE DUTIES OF THE PROFESSION TO THE PUBLIC, AND OF THE OBLIGATIONS OF THE PUBLIC TO THE PROFESSION.

ART. I.—Duties of the Profession to the Public.

SECTION 1. As good citizens, it is the duty of physicians to be ever vigilant for the welfare of the community, and to bear their part in sustaining its institutions and burdens; they should also be ever ready to give counsel to the public in relation to matters especially appertaining to their profession, as on subjects of medical police, public hygiene, and legal medicine. It is their province to enlighten the public in regard to quarantine regulations; the location, arrangement, and dietaries of hospitals, asylums, schools, prisons, and similar institutions; in relation to the medical police of towns, as drainage, ventilation, etc.; and in regard to measures for the prevention of epidemic and contagious diseases; and when pestilence prevails, it is their duty to face the danger, and to continue their labors for the alleviation of the suffering, even at the jeopardy of their own lives.

SEC. 2. Medical men should also be always ready, when called on by the legally constituted authorities, to enlighten coroners' inquests and courts of justice on subjects strictly medical—such as involve questions relating to sanity, legitimacy, murder by poisons or other violent means, and in regard to the various other subjects embraced in the science of Medical Jurisprudence. But in these cases, and especially where they are required to make a postmortem examination, it is just, in consequence of the time, labor, and skill required, and the responsibility and risk they incur, that the public should award them a proper honorarium.

SEC. 3. There is no profession by the members of which eleemosynary services are more liberally dispensed than the medical, but justice requires that some limits should be placed to the performance of such good offices. Poverty, professional brotherhood, and certain of the public duties referred to in the first section of this article, should always be recognized as presenting valid claims for gratuitous services; but neither institutions endowed by the public or by rich individuals, societies for mutual benefit, for the insurance of lives or for analogous purposes, nor any profession or occupation, can be admitted to possess such privilege. Nor can it be justly expected of physicians to furnish certificates of inability to serve on juries, to perform militia duty, or to testify to the state of health of persons wishing to insure their lives, obtain pensions, or the like, without a pecuniary acknowledgment. But to individuals in indigent circumstances, such professional services should always be cheerfully and freely accorded.

SEC. 4. It is the duty of physicians, who are frequent witnesses of the enormities committed by quackery, and the injury to health and even destruction of life caused by the use of quack medicines, to enlighten the public on these subjects, to expose the injuries sustained by the unwary from the devices and pretensions of artful empirics and impostors. Physicians ought to use all the influence which they may possess, as professors in Colleges of Pharmacy, and by exercising their option in regard to the shops to which their prescriptions shall be sent, to discourage druggists and apothecaries from vending quack or secret medicines, or from being in any way engaged in the their manufacture and sale.

ART. II.—Obligations of the public to physicians.

SEC. 1. The benefits accruing to the public, directly and indirectly, from the active and unwearied beneficence of the profession, are so numerous and important, that physicians are justly entitled to the utmost consideration and respect from the community. The public ought likewise to entertain a just appreciation of medical qualifications; to make a proper discrimination between true science and the assumptions of ignorance and empiricism; to afford every encouragement and facility for the acquisition of medical education—and no longer to allow the statute-books to exhibit the anomaly of exacting knowledge from physicians, under a liability to heavy penalties, and of making them obnoxious to punishment for resorting to the only means of obtaining it.

EXPLANATORY DECLARATIONS.

WHEREAS, Persistent misrepresentations have been and still are being made concerning certain provisions of the Code of Ethics of this Association, by which many in the community, and some even in the ranks of the profession are led to believe those provisions exclude persons from professional recognition simply because of differences of opinions or doctrines, therefore

1. Resolved, That clause first, of Art. IV, in the National Code of Medical Ethics, is not to be interpreted as excluding from professional fellowship, on the ground of differences in doctrine or belief, those who in other respects are entitled to be members of the regular medical profession. Neither is there any other article or clause of the said Code of Ethics that interferes with the exercise of the most perfect liberty of individual opinion and practice.

2. Resolved, That it constitutes a voluntary disconnection or withdrawal from the medical profession proper, to assume a name indicating to the puhlic a sectarian, or exclusive system of practice, or to belong to an association or party antagonistic to the general medical profession.

3. Resolved, That there is no provision in the National Code of Medical Ethics in any wise inconsistent with the broadest dictates of humanity, and that the article of the Code which relates to consultations cannot be correctly interpreted as interdicting, under any circumstances, the rendering of professional services whenever their is a pressing or immediate need of them. On the contrary, to meet the emergencies occasioned by disease or accident, and to give a helping hand to the distressed without unnecessary delay, is a duty fully enjoined on every member of the profession, both by the letter and the spirit of the entire Code.

But no such emergencies or circumstances can make it necessary or proper to enter into formal professional consultations with those who have voluntarily disconnected themselves from the regular medical profession, in the manner indicated by the preceding resolution.

I. The foregoing table contains the STANDARD FEES of the medical profession of Baltimore. All bills shall be rendered in conformity with the above fee table. They may be increased, according to the judgment of the practitioner concerned, in all cases of extraordinary detention or attendance; also, in proportion to the importance of the case, the responsibility attached to it, and the services rendered, when these are extraordinary. They may be diminished at the discretion of the physician, when he believes the patient cannot afford to pay the regular fees and is yet able to make some compensation. It shall be considered, however, as unprofessional, to diminish the standard fees with a view to mercenary competition.

II. It is not designed by these regulations to prevent gratuitous services to those who are incapable of making remuneration without distressing themselves or families.

III. It is especially enjoined on the members of the profession to decline all offers of a specific fee for attendance during any given period of time, as a measure unequal and often unjust in its action on one or other of the parties, and as derogatory to the character and dignity of the medical profession in general.

IV. When the circumstances permit, every physician should present his account immediately after his attendance in an attack of sickness. This shall be particularly attended to in cases of midwifery and surgery.

BALTIMORE MICROSCOPICAL SOCIETY.

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND.

The University of Maryland sprang from very humble beginings. Like many similar institutions, it owes its origin to the persevering efforts of a few public-spirited individuals, whose faith in their ultimate success supported them amid all disapointments and discouragements. The indifference of the public, the incredulity of their medical brethren, even mob violence, when their new-built dissecting room was attaked and destroyed, only seemed to urge them to renewed effort. For some years previous to its foundation, Dr. John B. Davidge had private classes of medical students. In the winter of 1806-7 he was joined in this work by two young physicians who had recently settled in Baltimore. Dr. James Cocke, of Va., and Dr. John Shaw, of Annapolis. In December, 1807, in conjunction with some others, these three applied for and obtained a charter for a Medical College in the City of Baltimore, with power to confer degrees. The faculty of the college named in the charter were as follows: John B. Davidge, M. D.. and James Cocke, M. D., Joint Professors of Anatomy, Surgery, and Physiology; George Brown, M. D., Professor of Theory and Practice; John Shaw, M. D., Professor of Chemistry; Thomas E. Bond; M. D., Professor of Materia Medica; William Donaldson, M. D., Professor of Institutes.

Dr. Brown declined the position which had been offered to him, and Drs. Donaldson and Bond also soon withdrew. Dr. Brown was succeeded by Dr. Nathaniel Potter, and Dr. Bond by Dr. Samuel Baker. Dr. Shaw died in 1809 and was succeeded by Dr. Elisha De Butts.

The immediate results of the labors of these pioneers were not very encouraging. The class increased slowly, and in April, 1810, the first degrees of M. D. were conferred on five candidates from a class of eighteen in attendance. The want of suitable buildings was severely felt, and led to an application to the Legislature for aid. In 1811 a lottery grant was obtained to raise money for buildings, and early in the next year the foundation of the present Medical College Building was laid. In 1812 a new charter was obtained, which, affiliating to the medical faculty, three other faculties of Law, of Theology, and of the Arts and Sciences, raised the institution to the dignity of a University, the members of the several faculties, with the title of Regents, constituting the governing power.

At the beginning of the second decade some changes appear; Dr. Cooke having deceased. In 1817 we find the following faculty: John B. Davidge, M. D., Professor of Anatomy; Nathaniel Potter, M. D., Professor of Theory and Practice; Elisha De Butts, M. D., Professor of Chemistry; Richard Wilmot Hall, M. D., Professor of Obstetrics; Samuel Baker, M. D., Professor of Materia Medica; Maxwell McDowell, M. D., Professor of Institutes; William Gibson, M. D., Professor of Surgery.

The period from 1814 to 1825 was a prosperous one for the school. With a harmonious faculty and rapidly increasing classes, all the highest anticipations of those who had been laboring long and earnestly seemed about to be realized. But, alas, for the vanity of human expectations. In 1825 some trifling differences of opinion among the members of the faculty, upon very unimportant matters, induced a small minority to appeal to the Legislature to change the government of the University, and the Act of 1825 was passed as a supplement to the charter of 1812. But the parties to this suicidal act lived to repent bitterly their error of judgment. This Act abolished the Board of Regents and created a Board of Trustees, transfering to them all the property and franchises of the University, and investing them with supreme authority. The four faculties thought it best to acquiesce, but recorded a formal protest against the constitutionality of the law. This protest was based on the opinions of those eminent constitutional lawyers, Luther Martin and Daniel Webster, who, when consulted, declared that "no earthly power can deprive the Regents of their rights under the charter of 1812. The changes in the school during the second decade were not very numerous. Dr. Gibson resigned the chair of Surgery in 1819, and was succeeded by Granville Sharp Pattison, Esq., who. resigning in 1827, was succeeded by Nathan R. Smith, M. D., and the faculty of 1827 was the same as that of 1817, with the exception that, instead of Prof. Gibson, Prof. Smith was in the Surgical chair.

During the third decade, which brings us down to the beginning of the legal contest between Regents and the Trustees, the changes by death and resignations were more numerous. Prof. Davidge dying in 1829, John D. Wells, M. D., was elected Professor of Anatomy At his death the following year, Benjamin Lincoln, M. D., was elected to the vacancy, who, also dying, was succeeded by Eli Geddings, M. D. In 1833, Professors Baker and McDowell resigned and Robley Dunglison, M. D., was elected Professor of Materia Medica, and a few years later, (1836,) Dr. Dunglison, resigning, was succeeded by Robert E. Griffith, M. D. In 1831 Julius T. Ducatel, M. D., was elected Professor of Chemistry, in place of Dr. De Butts, lately deceased, and at the beginning of the fourth decade the faculty included the following names: Nathaniel Potter, M. D., Professor of Theory and Practice, Richard Wilmot Hall, M. D., Professor of Obstetrics; Nathan R. Smith, M. D., Professor of Surgery; Eli Geddings, M. D., Professor of Anatomy; Robert E. Griffith, M. D., Professor of Materia Medica; Julius T. Ducatel, M. D., Professor of Chemistry.

For twelve years, during which the trustees had been in power, the evils growing out of the change in the government of the University, all of which had been foreseen and predicted in vain, became year after year more and more intolerable, until they culminated in 1837. The faculty determined to submit no longer to the usurpation of the trustees, and brought suit against them to compel a restitution of corporate rights. Two of the faculty, Drs. Potter and Hall, still held their places as original corporators under the perpetual charter of 1812; the rest had received their appointments from the trustees. All resigned to the trustees whatsoever that body had conferred, and proceeded to fill all vacancies as the charter of 1812 directed. Drs. Geddings, Griffith and Ducatel withdrew entirely; Dr. Smith was reinstated by his colleagues, and the other vacancies, after a brief delay, were filled by new appointments. The new faculty presented the names of Nathaniel Potter, M. D., Professor of Theory and Practice; Richard Wilmot Hall, M. D., Professor of Obstetrics; Nathan R. Smith, M. D., Professor of Surgery; Samuel G. Baker, M. D., Professor of Materia Medica; William E. A. Aikin, M. D., Professor of Chemistry, and the following year the name of William N. Baker, M. D., was added, Professor of Anatomy.

Thus organized the suit was prosecuted, and after a struggle of two years in the courts and before the Legislature, all the questions at issue were decided in favor of the faculty, and their rights and privileges were restored. The Court of Appeals, the highest tribunal in the State, decided that the Act of 1825 was unconstitutional and void, and that the Board of Trustees had never had any legal existence. In the interval between the spoliation of 1825 and the unwilling restitution of 1839 the medical school, however, had been well nigh destroyed. In 1825 the class numbered over three hundred; in 1839 only eigteen matriculted. With the close of the legal contest all trouble arising from ignorant mal-administration ended, and since that time the school has regained its former standing, although the rapid multiplication of medical schools in the south and west has lessened the former full attendance from that region. During this decade the University lost several of its members, by the death of Professor Potter and the two Professors Baker, and by the resignation of Elisha Bartlett, M. D., who succeeded Dr. Potter. The chairs thus left vacant were filled by the election of Professors Chew, Roby and Power, and the faculty of 1847 was represented as follows: Richard Wilmot Hall, M. D., Professor of Obstetrics; Nathan R. Smith, M. D., Professor of Surgery; William E. A. Aikin, M. D. L. L., D., Professor of Chemistry; Samuel Chew, M. D., Professor of Materia Medica; Joseph Roby, M. D., Professor of Anatomy; William Power, M. D., Professor of Theory and Practice.

From 1847 to 1857 death was again busy, and Professors Hall and Power deceased. Richard H. Thomas, M. D., was elected Professor of Obstetrics; Professor Chew was transferred to the chair of Theory and Practice, and George W. Miltenberger, M. D., was elected Professor of Materia Medica. The next decade—from 1857 to 1867—included the fruitless and bloody struggle of the South for Constitutional rights, and the university shared in the common calamity. Southern students were unwilling to risk their personal liberty where a mere expression of opinion, or merely listening to the expression of opinion by another, might consign a gentleman to the guard house. During this period Professor Roby's failing health compelled him to withdraw, and he was elected Emeritus Professor of Anatomy, and William A. Hammond, M. D., U. S. A., was appointed his successor. Dr. Hammond served only one term and resigned, and after an interval of two years, during which Professor Smith performed the duties of the chair, Christopher Johnston, M. D., in 1863, was elected Professor of Anatomy. The death of Professor Thomas in 1858 was followed by the transfer of Professor Miltenberger to the chair of Obstetrics, and the election of Charles Frick, M. D., as Professor of Materia Medica. Professor Frick, dying in 1860, was succeeded by Edward Warren, M. D., who early in the war went South, and the vacant chair was filled by the election of Richard McSherry, M. D. On the death of Professor Chew, in 1863, Professor McSherry was transferred to the chair of Theory and Practice, and the again vacant chair of Materia Medica was filled by the election in 1864 of the present incumbent, Samuel

C. Chew, M. D., son of the late Professor Chew. In 1866 a new chair was established, and Frank Donaldson, M. D., was elected Professor of Physiology and Hygiene. In 1867 the faculty were: Nathan R. Smith, M. D., Professor of Surgery, William E. A. Aikin, M. D., LL. D., Professor of Chemistry; G. W. Miltencerger, M. D., Professor of Obstetrics; Richard McSherry, M. D., Professor of Principles and Practice; Christopher Johnston, M. D., Professor of Anatomy; Samuel C. Chew, M. D., Professor of Materia Medica; Frank Donaldson, M. D., Professor of Physiology and Hygiene.

About this time the necessity for more extended facilities for instruction became more and more apparent as the scope of medical education became more enlarged, and the result of the deliberations of the faculty was an increase in the corps of professors, and the introduction of some important specialties not found heretofore in the curriculum of studies, together with a subdivision of the duties of some of the chairs, permitting a more thorough discussion of many important practical topics. Professor Smith becoming Emeritus Professor of Surgery, was succeeded in the chair of Surgery by Professor Christopher Johnston, transferred from that of Principles and Practice of Surgery. The chairs of Diseases of Women and Children and of Ophthalmic and Aural Surgery were created and filled by the appointment to them, respectively, of William T. Howard, M. D., of North Carolina, and of Julian J. Chisholm, M. D., of South Carolina. The chair of Anatomy, vacated by the transference of Professor Johnston to that of Principles and Practice of Surgery, was filled by the election to it of Francis T. Miles, M. D., of South Carolina. A chair of Operative Surgery was established, and Alan P. Smith, M. D., son of Professor Nathan R, Smith, was appointed to it, who, resigning in 1874, was succeeded by L. McLane Tiffany, M. D.

In 1879 I. E. Atkinson was appointed clinical Professor of Dermatology; in 1880 J. Edwin Michael, M, D., was elected to the chair of Anatomy and Clinical Surgery, Prof. Miles by transfer becoming Prof. of Physiology and Clinical Professor of Diseases of the Nervous System, and Prof. Donaldson Clinical Professor Diseases of the Throat and Lungs; in 1881 Prof. Tiffany took the chair of Surgery, Prof. Johnston becoming Emeritus Professor; in the same year I. E. Atkinson was made Professor of Pathology, Clinical Medicine and Dermatology; in 1883 Prof. Aikin was made Emeritus Professor, and R. Dorsey Coale, Ph.D., lectured on Chemistry; in 1884 R. Dorsey Coale, Ph.D., was elected Professor of Chemistry and Toxicology. The Faculty after these changes presents the following names:

HON. SEVERN TEACKLE WALLIS, LL. D., PROVOST.

Faculty of Physic.

GEORGE W. MILTENBERGER, M. D.,

Professor of Obstetrics.

CHRISTOPHER JOHNSTON, M. D.,

Emeritus Professor of Surgery.

SAMUEL C. CHEW, M. D.,

Professor of Principles and Practice of Medicine, and of Hygiene.

FRANK DONALDSON, M. D.,

Clinical Professor of Diseases of the Throat and Chest.

WILLIAM T. HOWARD, M. D.,

Professor of Diseases of Women and Children, and Clinical Medicine.

JULIAN J. CHISOLM, M. D.,

Professor of Eye and Ear Diseases.

FRANCIS T. MILES, M. D.,

Professor of Physiology, and Clinical Professor of Diseases of the Nervous System.

LOUIS McLANE TIFFANY, M. D.,

Professor of Surgery.

J. EDWIN MICHAEL, M. D.,

Professor of Anatomy and Clinical Surgery.

I EDMONDSON ATKINSON, M. D.,

Professor of Materia Medica and Therapeutics, Clinical Medicine, and Dermatology.

R. DORSEY COALE, PH. D.,

Professor of Chemistry and Toxicology.

HERBERT HARLAN, M. D.,

Demonstrator of Anatomy.

JAMES M. CRAIGHILL, M. D.,
HIRAM WOODS, M. D.,

Assistant Demonstrators of Anatomy.

CHARLES W. MITCHELL, M. D.,

Lecturer on Pathological Anatomy.

RANDOLPH WINSLOW, M. D.,

Lecturer on Clinical Surgery,

JOSEPH T. SMITH, M. D.,
Lecturer on Clinical Medicine.

WILLIAM A. MOALE, M. D.
Lecturer on Clinical Medicine.

L. ERNEST NEALE, M. D.,
Demonstrator of Obstetrics.

WALTER B. PLATT, M. D., F. R. C. S.,
Demonstrator of Surgery.

WILLIAM J. JONES, M. D.,
Lecturer on Clinical Medicine.

..... .

Demonstrator of Chemistry.

HENRY C. OHLE, M. D.,
WILLIAM B. CANFIELD, M. D., | PROSECTORS.
HARRY ROLANDO, M. D.,

In 1883, the Law Department, at the invitation of the faculty of physic, moved from their former building and built on the ground of the latter, thus uniting all three departments of the University.

CLINICAL ADVANTAGES.

THE UNIVERSITY HOSPITAL OR BALTIMORE INFIRMARY, the largest institution for the care of the sick in the city, is the property of the Faculty, and is situated diagonally opposite the University buildings, so that the student loses no time in passing from the lecture halls to the clinical amphitheatre. It offers every requirement for the sick both in the public wards and private rooms. The Sisters of Mercy, to whom has been confided the domestic management of the institution, are everywhere favorably known as tender and skilful nurses. Two physicians, selected annually by the Faculty, reside in the Hospital. A portion of the Hospital is used as the

for foreign seamen, The great importance of Baltimore as a shipping point brings into her harbor many vessels from all parts of the world, and the sick sailors who are cared for in the wards of the institution give the student an opportunity to observe the diseases of every climate. Another considerable portion of the building is used as a

CITY HOSPITAL.

In this department are forty charity beds, supported by the city. This department of the hospital is taxed to its utmost capacity to afford accommodation for patients seeking admission. Accident cases (never rare in a great city), as well as patients suffering from the various diseases of our own climate, occupy the beds. Another department is that of the of the port. The steamers arriving from Europe weekly bring large numbers of sick and disabled immigrants, who are sent immediately to this Hospital and increase the variety of its clinical material. Many of these patients are children.

The University Hospital, being the property of the Faculty of Physic, is conducted with the special purpose of furnishing ample clinical material to be used in illustration of the lectures. The structure and arrangement of the buildings are admirably adapted for clinical purposes, and the Faculty is thus in a position to make unusually prominent this important feature of a medical course.

In addition to the regular clinical lectures in the amphitheatre of the Infirmary, (for which see schedule), much attention is also devoted to strictly bedside instruction, in which the students accompany the physician or surgeon through the wards and become practically familiar with the methods of diagnosis and treatment.

FREE LYING-IN HOSPITAL OF THE UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND.

H. B. Thomas, M. D., Senior Resident Physician.
C. F. Davidson, M. D., Junior Resident Physician.

The Free Lying-In Hospital is in successful operation and has furnished, during the past year, actual obstetrical experience to each member of the graduating class.

This has been a long-needed want, and the Faculty can now feel that every department of clinical instruction has been fully provided for. Two resident physiciaus are annually appointed to this house from among the graduates of the school, and the advanced students have every opportunity for bedside instruction in this important branch, under the direct and immediate supervision of the Professor of Obstetrics and his Chief of Clinic.

This is supplemented by clinical lectures upon the material contained in the Hospital, apart from the regular didactic course. The Outdoor Obstetric Clinic is now thoroughly organized, and students are allotted to attend labor cases at the homes of the patients, with the privilege of calling for the aid of the Professor of Obstetrics, his Chief of Clinic or either of the Resident Physians of the Lying-In Hospital, whenever complications or difficulties arise.

This Outdoor Department is now in operation, and almost daily, cases are thus assigned to members of the class.

THE UNIVERSITY DISPENSARY OR OUT-PATIENT DEPARTMENT is solely under the control of the faculty, and is free to all. During the past year over 27,713 visits were made by patients. The whole department is arranged and thoroughly organized to facilitate the classification of the patients coming under treatment and their distribution to the various professors giving clinical lectures. Attention is called to the fact that during the interval between the sessions, from March to October, students have the advantage of three hours of clinical instruction daily.

Dispensary Physician—Charles W. Mitchell, M. D.

Assis'ant Dispensary Physician—George E. Silljacks, M. D.

DENTAL INFIRMARY.

The Dental Clinics from 2 to 5 P. M., offer excellent opportunities to students intending to practice in the country to familiarize themselves with all dental operations.

BAY VIEW HOSPITAL.

The clinical advantages of the University have been largely increased by the liberal decision of the Board of Trustees of Bay View to allow the immense material of the Hospital, of 1000 beds to be used for the purpose of medical education. There are daily clinics by the teachers of the University in medicine and surgery at that institution, and the dead house furnishes a great abundance and variety of pathological material, which is utilized for demonstration. The Insane Department contains 250 beds. Graduates, by paying a moderate price for board and lodging, may become resident students in the Hospital. A resident physician, from among the graduates of the school, is annually appointed by the trustees upon the recommendation of the Faculty at a salary of $500. The medical staff representing the University at the Hospital is as follows:

Physicians—Prof. I. E. Atkinson, M. D., Joseph T. Smith, M. D., Wm. A. Moale, M. D., Wm. T. Jones, M. D.

Surgeons—Prof. L. McLane Tiffany, M. D., Prof. J. Edwin Michael, M. D., Randolph Winslow, M. D., Walter B. Platt, M. D., F. R. C. S.

Pathologist—Chas. W. Mitchell, M. D.
Resident Physician—A. C. Harrison, M. D.

RESIDENT STUDENTS.

Accommodations are provided in a building adjacent to the hospital for twenty-four resident students. To these are assigned wards in the hospital, with attendance upon the sick under the daily supervision of the professors of the university and the resident house officers. In this institution under-graduates are permitted to enjoy the very great advantages of constant observation of the sick, and of receiving daily bedside instruction from the professors. Rotation in ward service is the rule adopted, in order that the experience of the students may be as varied as possible.

With the present facilities for instruction which the University offers to medical students, it claims to be the equal of any, and in some respects superior to many other institutions.

For the study of practical anatomy and clinic instruction it offers peculiar advantages, which we trust will be appreciated in the future as in the past.

Her Alumni are to be found in prominent positions in the public service, and in posts of honor in civil life, widely scattered throughout the whole of our country, and to them she points as evidence of her efficiency in the past, and as a guarantee for future usefulness.

The value of her teachings may be measured by the standing, and success of her pupils, and to them the faculty appeal with laudable pride.

NEW CITY HOSPITAL

UNDER THE EXCLUSIVE CONTROL OF THE COLLEGE OF PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

Colleges.

COLLEGE OF PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

The original faculty of the College of Physicians and Surgeons consisted of the following physicians: Edward Warren, M. D.; E. Lloyd Howard, M. D.; Harvey L. Byrd, M. D.; John S. Lynch, M. D.; Thomas Opie, M. D.; W. W. Murray, M. D., and P. Goolrick, M. D., held their first meeting and organized on the 29th of August, 1872.

By a provision in the charter of this college, the faculty have the power of perpetual succession. Vacancies by death, removal or resignation, may be filled by the remaining members. Dr. Edward Warren tendered his resignation April 5, 1873; Dr. W. W. Murray on the 7th of December, 1874; Dr. Harvey L. Byrd on December 12, 1874, and Dr. P. Goolrick on the 1st of September, 1874. Their successors were elected, and the number of professorships in this college increased to eleven, in accordance with the demand for specialties and the advance of medical science.

The class of this college numbered forty-seven students the first session, but in consecutive years it manifested a most remarkable and progressive increase, numbering for the session of 1883-4 408 students, the largest class that has ever been in Baltimore. During the first four years the lectures were held in rented apartments over the New Assembly Rooms, and the only source of clinical material was a dispensary, on a small scale, carried on in a fourth story room. Now the faculty are the owners, without incumbrance, of a large and well equipped college building, the City Hospital, (formerly Washington University Hospital), the Mary land Lying-in Asylum, the Maryland Woman's Hospital, the City Hospital Dispensary, and the Chemical, Physiological and Pathological Laboratories.

The sources from which they derive their clinical material are as follows: The City Hospital, which is constantly filled with patients, affording the student ample opportunity for bedside instruction and experience; the Maryland Lying-in-Asylum, which furnishes an abundance of material for clinical teaching in obstetrics; the Woman's Hospital gives rare opportunities for the clinical study of gynecology. The dispensary is in a most successful operation, furnishing about 15,000 patients in one year, in addition to the above mentioned. The faculty have the pleasure of announcing that the City Almshouse, at Bay View, has recently been opened to the students of the school. This institution has one thousand beds, affording the means of illustrating every form of disease.

It has been the special endeavor of the faculty to perfect the clinical features of this school, and to bring it fully up to the requirements of modern medical teaching. They have, from year to year, made liberal outlays from their income for the advancement of the college, and have lately enlarged and improved the appearance of their college buildings; and at a meeting of the faculty, the following resolution was passed, which looks toward lengthening the curriculum and elevating the standard of medical education:

"Resolved, That the students are advised to attend three courses of lectures, but are obligated to attend two; that those who declare a purpose to attend three courses shall devote themselves during the first year to Anatomy, Physiology, Materia Medica and Chemistry; the second year to Principles and Practice of Surgery, Principles and Practice of Medicine, Clinical Surgery and Obstetrics; the third year to diseases of women, diseases of the Eye and Ear, and Clinical Medicine.

The examinations of the above branches shall be held at the end of each course. Students who fail in any of the branches may come forward the succeeding year without loss of time Failure on the third year's course will entitle them to re examination.

FACULTY OF PHYSIC.

Professor of Obstetrics and Puerperal Diseases; Dean of the Faculty—Thomas Opie, M. D.

Professor of Principles and Practice of Medicine and Clinical Professor of Chest and Throat—John S. Lynch, M. D.

Professor of Physiology and Diseases of Children—Thomas S. Latimer, M. D.

Professor of Principles and Practice of Dental Surgery as applied to Medicine—R. B. Winder, M. D., D.D. S.

Professor of Diseases of the Eye and Ear—Aaron Friedenwald, M. D.

Professor of Anatomy, Genito Urinary and Orthopœdic Surgery—Charles F. Bevan, M. D.

Professor of Surgery—Oscar J. Coskery, M. D.

Professor of Clinical Medicine and Diseases of the Nervous System—Abram B. Arnold, M. D.

Professor of Materia Medica, Therapeutics and Mental Diseases—Richard Gundry, M. D.

Professor of Chemistry—Wm. Simon, M. D., Ph. D.

Professor of Dermatology and Hygiene—George H. Rohe, M. D.

Demonstrator of Anatomy and Lectnrer on Applied Anatomy of Nervous System—J. W. Chambers, M. D.

Demonstrator of Pathology and Lecturer on Pathology and Histology—N. G. Keirle, A. M., M. D.

Demonstrator and Lecturer on Physiology—Wm. D. Booker, M. D.

Assistant Demonstrator of Anatomy and Lecturer on Regional Anatomy—J. H. Branham, M. D.

Lecturer in Spring Course on Throat and Chest—George Thomas, A. M., M. D.

Demonstrator of Chemistry—W. S. Gardner, M. D.

Pathologist at Bay View—W. T. Councilman, M. D.

THE CITY HOSPITAL,

N. W. corner Calvert and Saratoga streets, is under the exclusive charge of the College of Physicians and Surgeons. It is efficiently and carefully managed by the Sisters of Mercy. Being centrally located, most cases of accident in the city are sent to it. The advantages and conveniences of a well filled General Hospital, the wards of which communicate directly with the lecture hall are very great.

Resident Physician—E. C. Stuart, M. D.

Assistant " —H. M. Branham, M. D.

The City Hospital Dispensary is also under the control of the professors of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, where the poor can receive treatment free.

Chief Physician—N. G. Keirle, M. D.

THE NEW CITY HOSPITAL.

The New City Hospital, now in process of erection on the spacious lot immediately adjoining the present college building on Calvert street (formerly the City Spring), marks a new era in the history of this College.

It is with great pleasure we announce to our alumni and to the profession in general that this addition will greatly enlarge our present clinical facilities, and make them equal to those of any school in the country.

The New Hospital will be a magnificent five-story structure, consisting of a building fronting 114 feet on Calvert street, one of equal frontage on the street in the rear (an open court separating them and facing the college building), and a central connecting building on the north end of the lot. It will accommodate 300 patients. The plans that have been adopted for the construction of this Hospital will secure for it the most approved and complete system of sanitation. Accommodations of the most improved modern character, for both private and public patients, will be provided. A large number of first-class private rooms, completely isolated from that part of the building in which the public wards are located, will make this one of the best hospitals for the accommodation of invalids from a distance to be found anywhere. The public wards, 76x27 feet, well ventilated and lighted, will furnish ample provision of the best character for the growing needs of the school.

The sisters of Mercy will have charge of this institution, which fact alone furnishes ample guarantee that it will be well managed, and that everything will be done to promote the comfort and welfare of its inmates.

The Maryland Women's Hospital, adjoining the City Hospital, also under the exclusive control of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, exclusively for the treatment of women. Patients from a distance will find here the privacy and comforts of their own home. A competent physician is always in the building to carry out the instructions of the professor in attendance.

Attending Surgeon.—Prof. Thomas Opie, M. D.

Broad from $10 to $4 per week, according to location. For further particulars apply to the resident physician.

The special dispensary for the diseases of women, connected with this institution, will be open from 12 to 2 o'clock daily. The professor of the diseases of women will be in attendance every day.

The Maryland Lying in Hospital, 115 West Lombard street, offers the student special clinical advantages in the study of midwifery. This institution was established in 1874, the Legislature of that year appropriating $20,000 for same to the Faculty of the College of Physicians and Surgeons. The asylum has a capacity of forty beds. and is arranged with special reference to the comfort and health of its inmates, and will compare favorably in all respects with any similar institution in this country. It affords a home to the poor and destitute during the most trying portion of a woman's life, where they receive the best professional care and the attention of trained nurses during confinement, and are kept afterwards until they are able to return home without charge.

The asylum is likewise provided with a number of well furnished and comfortable private rooms. The great advantage to the deserving poor, accomplished by this noble institution, proves that the State never made a more judicious appropriation.

Attending Obstetrician—Prof. Thomas Opie, M. D.

Resident Physician—Augustus V. Wendell, M. D.

BALTIMORE MEDICAL COLLEGE.

The first meeting for the organization of the Baltimore Medical College was held in Baltimore, August 24th, 1881. It was duly incorporated in Baltimore, September 16th, 1881.

Its first faculty consisted of Harvey L. Byrd, M. D., W. R. Monroe, M. D., B. F. Leonard, M. D., Henry Froehling, M. D., L. W. Clapp, M. D., John R. Uhler, M. D., and L. R. Coates, M. D.

All of these gentlemen, except W. R. Monroe, M. D., who is now Emeritus Professor of Hygiene, have since retired from the Faculty. After several changes of location, and mutations incident to the growth and development of institutions, the present site of the College was selected in June, 1884.

THE FACULTY

is now composed of the following named gentlemen :

W. R. MONROE, M. D.,

Emeritus Professor of Hygiene.

CHARLES G. HILL, M. D.,

Professor of Nervous and Mental Diseases.

(Physician in charge of Mount Hope Insane Asylum.)

ROBERT H. P. ELLIS, M. D.,

Professor Materia Medica, Therapeutics and Clinical Medicine.

J. H. SCARFF, M. D.,

Professor of Diseases of Women.

WILMER BRINTON, M. D.,

Professor of Obstetrics.

WILLIAM LEE, M. D.,

Professor of Diseases of Children and Dermatology.

A. C. POLE, M. D.,

Professor of Anatomy and Clinical Surgery.

DAVID STREETT, M. D.,

Professor of Principles and Practice of Medicine.

W. P. TONRY, Ph. D., M. D.,

Professor of Chemistry, Toxicology and Hygiene.

J. D. BLAKE, M. D.,

Professor of Physiology and Genito-Urinary Surgery.

S. K. MERRICK, M. D.,

Professor of Diseases of the Nose, Throat and Chest.

EDMUND R. WALKER, M. D.,

Professor of Principles and Practice of Surgery.

GEORGE REULING, M. D.

Professor of Diseases of the Eye and Ear.

ROBERT HOFFMANN, M. D.,

Lecturer on Pathological Anatomy.

DANIEL L. BRINTON, LL. B.,

Lecturer on Medical Jurisprudence.

J. WEBB FOSTER, Ph. G.,

Lecturer on Practical Pharmacy.

J. B. SCHWATKA, M. D.,

Demonstrator of Anatomy.

E. T. HEIN, M. D., Prosector.

The Baltimore Medical College is located on Howard street, north of Madison street, Baltimore, Md. Its faculty owns and controls the college buildings, the Maryland General Hospital, the Maryland Lying in Hospital, the Maryland Eye and Ear Hospital, and the Baltimore Medical College Dispensary. All of these buildings and hospitals have been purchased and constructed by the faculty, and are under its exclusive control and management. They all lie immediately adjacent to the college building, and are admirably situated for utilization of their clinical material.

The college and Hospital Buildings occupy the depth of an entire square fronting on Howard street, north of Madison, and also on Linden avenue, north of Madison street.

In the construction of the buildings of this institution no expense has been spared by the faculty to place this school in the front rank of medical colleges.

The clinical facilities of this institution have been increased until they are now equal to any in the South.

The regular winter course of lectures in this college begins October 1st and ends about the middle of March. During the session from five to seven didactic and one to two clinical lectures are delivered daily. These lectures are so arranged as to render them eminently practical in having the clinical lectures illustrate the salient features of the didactic. Diagnoses are made and reasons for same repeated to class so frequently during a session, in all the departments, as to render the student thoroughly familiar with the various diseases and injuries.

SPRING COURSE.

There is a spring course beginning about the fifteenth day of March every year and ending on 1st of June.

There is also a preliminary fall course, consisting of clinical lectures, extending from the first of September to the first of October, which is given gratis to all students of this college.

This preliminary fall course is given in order to prepare the mind of the student for the more ready reception of the lectures delivered during the regular winter course.

GRADED COURSE.

Whilst students are permitted to come forward for graduation at the termination of their second course, the faculty recommends a three years' graded course to all students of medicine. This graded course is entirely optional with the student, and he is not required to pursue his studies on this plan. unless he so elect. For the benefit of those desiring to take the graded course, the following schedule is arranged ; at the end of the second course they will be examined on anatomy, physiology, genito-urinary and veneral diseases, chemistry, toxicology and hygiene, materia medica and therapeutics, diseases of women and diseases of the eye and ear.

At the end of the third course they will be examined on principles and practice of medicine, surgery, obstetrics, diseases of children and dermatology, insanity and diseases of the nervous system, diseases of the nose, throat and chest, and on any branch or branches on which they may have failed at the end of the second course.

is a commodious buiding, fronting on Howard street, north of Madison street, containing a faculty room, a pharmacy, a dispensary, consisting of consultation and reception room, a chemical laboratory, one of the most improved and comfortable dissecting rooms in the country, and an amphitheatre and lecture room so arranged, as to give students the best possible opportunity for listening to lectures and witnessing surgical operations and clinics.

The amphitheatre is connected with the Maryland General Hospital by means of an elevated corridor, so that patients with all forms of diseases and injuries can be conveniently brought before the class for medical and surgical treatment.

THE MARYLAND GENERAL HOSPITAL,

located on Linden avenue, north of Madison street, is immediately adjacent to the college building and supported by liberal donations from the State of Maryland, which maintains in this institution patients from every county and from the city of Baltimore. Its wards contain beds filled with patients, suffering from almost every form of indigenous disease, and all kinds of important surgical cases. These cases are fully utilized as clinical material and through them the student is enabled to watch and note the daily progress of diseases and injuries. A portion of this institution is used as a CITY HOSPITAL, which contains beds filled with medical and surgical cases, and supporteded by the generous city of Baltimore. These cases are also utilized in teaching.

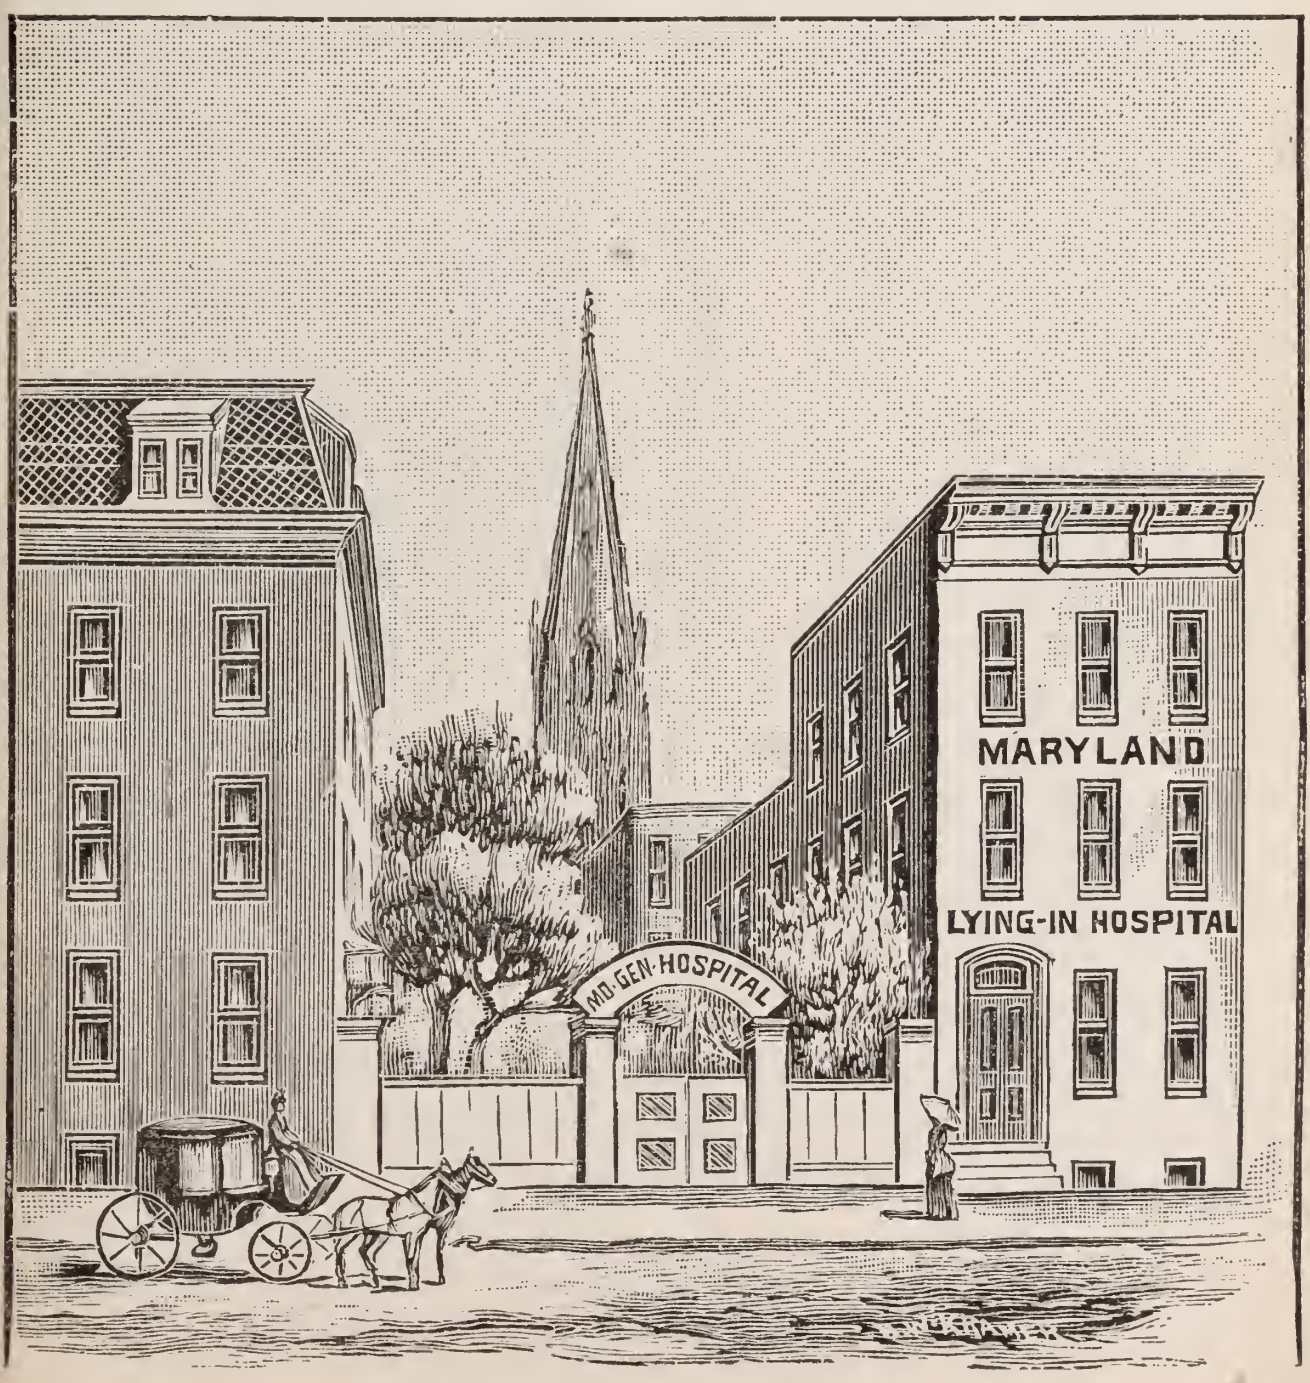
THE GYNECOLOGICAL DEPARTMENT of the Maryland General Hospital, is constantly filled with females seeking relief from uterine, vaginal or ovarian diseases, and furnishes a very material and important part of our clinical facilities.

Private patients are admitted in the Maryland General Hospital at rates varying from $5.00 to $10.00 per week, according to size and location of room. For particulars address RESIDENT PHYSICIAN of Maryland General Hospital.

THE MARYLAND LYING-IN HOSPITAL.



In this institution there is always to be found a sufficient number of obstetrical cases to furnish students thorough instruction in practical midwifery. Students have the opportunity to observe actual labor, and receive special instruction in diagnosing positions and presentations, in measuring the female pelvis, and are also made familiar with the use of antiseptics in obstetric practice, and the duty of the obstetrician to the pregnant and lying-in woman.

The Maryland Lying-in Hospital is now open for the reception of patients. Its wards are well arranged and comfortable, and the patients it contains will receive good nursing during confinement, and be attended by the Professor of Midwifery.

Private rooms can be secured upon the payment of from $5.00 to $10 00 per week, according to size and location.

For further information, address

Prof. WILMER BRINTON, M. D.

THE MARYLAND EYE AND EAR HOSPITAL,

located on Howard street, north of Madison street, and immediately adjoining the college, is equipped with all the modern requirements for the practical study of ophthalmic and aural science. It contains reception and examination rooms for patients, a dark room for ophthalmoscopic examinations, an operating room, and well-lighted and ventilated bedrooms for resident patients.

The Maryland Eye and Ear Hospital is now open for the admission of patients suffering from diseases of the Eye and Ear. The wards are comfortable and well arranged for the treatment of this class of patients.

Maryland Ear and Eye Hospital.

Those placing themselves in this institution for treatment will be attended by the specialist in this department. Private rooms can be obtained upon the payment of from $5.00 to $10.00 per week—boarding included.

WOMAN'S MEDICAL COLLEGE OF BALTIMORE.

S. E. Cor. Hoffman St. and Druid Hill Ave.

This institution was incorporated early in the year of 1882 by Drs. B. Bernard Browne, Thomas A. Ashby, Randolph Winslow, Eugene F. Cordell, W. D. Booker, Richard Henry Thomas, and John G. Jay.

The above named progressive physicians, believing Baltimore to possess many advantages as an educational centre, determined to establish here a college for the medical education of women exclusively. Believing in the growing demand for a higher grade of instruction in colleges, they have determined that the standard adopted by this one should place her among the best in the country. The facilities provided for didactic and clinical instruction are first-class.

The acquisition of the Hospital of the Good Samaritan and the daily Dispensary service have furnished the college with abundant clinical advantages.

While the college is to give women a liberal and thorough education in all branches of medical knowledge, others who do not wish to practice medicine will have an opportunity of buying separate tickets and attending lectures upon certain branches, a knowledge of which is desirable for every well educated person. As an adjunct in this line the faculty have instituted a course of lectures on nursing, which begin in May, at the end of regular college course.

This valuable course is independent of the regular college instruction, and is available to all ladies upon the payment of the required fee.

The college has now completed its sixth year.

The Faculty is as follows:

B. Bernard Browne, M. D.—Professor of Diseases of Women and Midwifery.

Thomas A. Ashby, M. D.—Professor of Obstetrics and Clinical Gynecology.

Hiram Woods, M. D.—Professor of Diseases of Eye and Ear.

Eugene F. Cordell, M. D.—Professor Materia Medica and Therapeutics.

Randolph Winslow, M. D.—Professor of Surgery.

John G. Jay, M. D.—Professor of Anatomy and Operative Surgery.

Richard Henry Thomas, B. A., M. D.—Professor of Diseases of Throat and Chest.

Wm. D. Booker, M. D.—Professor of Diseases of Children.

C. Hampson Jones, M. B. C. M.—Associate Professor of Physiology.

Amanda T. Norris, M. D.—Professor of Materia Medica and Therapeuties.

Alonzo L. Thomsen, B. A.—Professor of Chemistry

BALTIMORE UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF MEDICINE.

The College and Hospital buildings are situated on North Bond Street, near Baltimore St., in a section of the city replete with clinical material for dispensary and hospital purposes.

The Free Dispensary will be open daily from 12 to 2 o'clock, at which large numbers of out-door patients will be prescribed for and treated before the students of the College. Students will be expected to visit this class of patients at their homes, and under direction of chiefs of clinics, so that they can study the progress and changes that take place in the treatment of their cases, thus familiarizing them with the art of diagnosis and the use of remedies ere they enter upon regular practice for themselves.

The advantages derivable from this mode of teaching can hardly be overestimated.

Hospitals.

HOSPITAL OF THE GOOD SAMARITAN.

MOSHER SREET NEAR MCCULLOH.

This institution was incorporated in February, 1882.

It is under the management of the professors of the Women's Medical College. It was opened in May, 1882.

In the out-door obstetrical department a large number of women have been attended at their own homes during confinement free of charge. In this department, as in all others, the studenes of the college receive practical bedside instruction.

The hospital now contains eight beds, but as a large number of patients applying require in-door treatment, this number will be increased.

The institution is supported by fees from private patients, donations of money, subscriptions to the hospital fund, gifts of furniture, supplies and medicines.

A free bed may be supported one year by the payment of $300, the right being given to the donor to name at any time during the year a patient for it, $25 supports a free bed one month.

The medical staff is composed of the Professors of the Women's Medical College.

HOSPITAL FOR THE WOMEN OF MARYLAND, OF BALTIMORE CITY.

Located at 150 w. Townsend street, emanated from the suggestions of C. H. Riley, M. D., who, seeing the want of an institution of this kind in the city, applied his energies, and with the assistance of other benevolent gentlemen, succeded in having it incorporated January 12th, 1882, and open for reception of patients April 17th, 1882, An examination of its yearly report shows that it is doing a good work. The institution is a charitable one in the broadest sense of the word, all without regard to condition, color or creed are treated.

Surgeons in Charge - Dr. Wm. T. Howard, Dr. H. P. C. Wilson.

Assistant Surgeons—Dr. Chas. H, Riley, Dr. Chas. O'Donovan, Jr., Dr. Robt. T, Wilson, Dr. Wm. P. Chunn.

ST. AGNES HOSPITAL.

Located at Carrollton. It is under the charge of, the Sisters of Charity, where the sick and afflicted of all sects and conditions of society are treated, except those of a contagious character. The institution, having no connection with any medical school patients, will not have their infirmities displayed before medical students.

All information will be cheerfully given by addressing Claude Van Bibber, M. D., St. Agnes Hospital, Carroll P. O., Baltimore, Md.

Attending Physician—Claude Van Bibber, M. D.

HEBREW HOSPITAL AND ASYLUM.

MONUMENT STREET, EAST OF BROADWAY.

Incorporated 1866. This institution is governed and supported by the Hebrew Hospital and Asylum Association, which numbers about four hundred members. The benefits are mostly charitable, though some few pay patients and residents are accepted.

It is finely situated in an open space, fronting on the Johns Hopkins Hospital property, giving breathing room for the sick and old persons who seek its shelter. It is the intention of the society to enlarge the work by erecting another building, so as to make the hospital and asylum two separate departments.

Physicians in Charge—A. Friedenwald, M. D.; S. W. Seldner, M. D.

President—Joseph Friedenwald.

Secretary—Ignatius Lauer.

Treasurer—A. S. Adler.

NURSERY AND CHILDS HOSPITAL.

FRANKLIN AND SCHROEDER STREETS.

Incorporated 1878. This worthy charity is located in the western part of the city outside the business centre. The buildings are in an open yard surrounded by beautifully appointed grounds. The object of the work is to provide a home with attention for infants who from many causes may be without the care due them. Poverty, or worthlessness of parents, sickness or abandonment.

The building so long in use was found to be quite inadequate to meet the demands of this work.

The new building just erected and immediately adjoining the old, has been fitted up with a special view to enlarging the hospital usefullness, as it is intended to devote the whole of this building to the hospital department, in this will be received children from infancy to eighteen years, who may be suffering from malformation or any cause other than contageous diseases. This institution is one of charity in its broadest sense, being open to all creeds and under no denominational government.

The support is from voluntary contributions. The capacity for inmates in nursery is about fifty. The hospital not being yet completed it is impossible to get the actual number of patients that can be accommodated.

President—Mrs. Charles F. Bevan.

Cor. Sec.—Mrs. German H. Hunt.

Rec. Sec.—Mrs. David Henderson.

Treas. Mrs. A. B. Gordon.

Counsellor—Hon. J. Morrison Harris.

ST. JOSEPH'S GENERAL HOSPITAL.

(CAROLINE AND HOFFMAN STREETS.)

Founded 1864. It is in charge of the Sisters of the third order St. Francis; it is arranged to accept both charity and pay patients, and is capable of accommodating two hundred inmates.

Sister Superior – Sister M. Zita.

Med. Supt—Oscar J. Coskery, M. D.

U. S. MARINE HOSPITAL.

The Office and Dispensary are at the Custom House. Patients requiring hospital treatment are cared for at the new U. S. Marine Hospital situated at Hampden.

The hospital is constructed on the pavilion plan, and will accommodate one hundred and fifty patients. No contagious diseases will be treated there. Only the ordinary diseases and injuries which may befall a sailor.

OFFICERS:

Passed Asst. Surgeon in Charge—F. W. Mead, M. D.
" " Simon Hussey, M. D.
Hospital Steward—J. B. M. Ward.

CHURCH HOME AND INFIRMARY.

(BROADWAY AND HAMPSTEAD STREET.)

Incorporated 1858. It is beautifully situated on a very high point and is surrounded by neatly arranged grounds. It is strictly an Episcopal institution, deriving its support from that church, and members of that denomination, though patients of any and all creeds are admitted.

The Episcopal service is read morning and evening by the chaplain in the chapel. The Home is, in a great part, charitable, though patients of means can find privacy and, at the same time, the constant attendance of a physician.

The free beds of this institution are filled by the rector of the church supporting the same. The support is partly an endowment, the balance being supplied by the several Episcopal churches of Baltimore.

A very large and handsome addition is now being made to the Church Home and Infirmary of the City of Baltimore.

The need of such an addition has long been felt, and urged in the Annual Reports of the Trustees. A few individuals have given so generously for this object that the Trustees have felt justified in contracting for the work to be done, and it is now fairly under way.

The addition consists of a wing extending westward from the present building to the building line on Bethel Stree, 81 ft. 6 in. long, by 66 ft. 6 in. wide, fronting on Bethel Street. This addition will nearly balance the present east wing extending to Broadway, and when completed the two present towers will form the centre of the building, with the two wings extending from Broadway to Bethel Street, giving a total south front of about 210 feet.

Chairman of Executive Committee—Rev. J. S. B. Hodges, S. T. D.

Attending Physicians—E. R. Walker, M. D., Wm. Green, M. D., H. S. Bowie, M. D.. Robert W. Johnson, M. D.

Consulting Physicians—Frank Donaldson, M. D., Christopher Johnston, M. D., Russell Murdoch, M. D.

Resident Physician—Frank D. Gavin, M. D.

Chaplain—Rev. J. S. Miller.

Matron—Miss Mary J. Bradford. Application for admission must be made to the Matron.

THE PRESBYTERIAN EYE, EAR AND THROAT CHARITY HOSPITAL.

(1007 East Baltimore Street.)

This institution was organized and began to treat patients in December, 1877.

It is the direct out-growth of the private Charity Hospital of Dr. Julian J. Chisolm. This individual work had grown so large as to be a tax both on his purse and time, too great for a single person to bear. Dr. Chisolm then applied to his church friends, the Presbyterians of Baltimore, assuring them of his continued interest in case of their adopting and enlarging the work so nobly begun and carried on by him.

He met with their most earnest efforts in this cause. The result is seen in what has been accomplished, in the number of poor relieved, also in the building now erected, the old one having been found too small to accommodate the increasing number of applicants for treatment.

The new building now in operation on the site of the old is one of the largest special hospitals in the United States. It is five stories in height with a frontage of sixty-five feet, and a capacity of sixty beds, besides ample space for the reception of visiting patients. It has accommodation for both charity and pay patients. Their are sixteen private rooms in which the well-to-do patient can have all the comforts of privacy and at the same time be under the constant care of the attending physicians and nurses. There are large airy wards for charity patients, male and female, white and colored. This Charity Hospital is open to all Christian or Hebrew, with separate floors for white and colored patients.

Since our opening, over forty thousand persons have been treated, our wards have been full, our table well supplied, our domestic labor faithfully performed, and our professional service has been of the best, and rendered free of charge. And, wonderful to realize, we are, on this our Decennial Anniversary, free of debt—having raised little short of a hundred thousand dollars for this charity.

The hospital is supported by contributions from the various Presbyterian churches of Baltimore. The members of one large or two small churches take charge of the hospital for one month and meet all the expenses incurred. A committee of ladies from the church or churches in charge at the time, visit the hospital daily and supervise all the detailed care of the inmates;

JOHNS HOPKINS HOSPITAL.

Johns Hopkins, of the Society of Friends, (orthodox), died December 24th, 1873. During his life time he purchased for one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, the old Maryland Hospital and adjoining grounds, to the extentof about 13 acres, bounded by Monument, Jefferson, Broadway and Wolfe streets, and conveyed it to a Board of twelve Trustees, of whom, Francis T. King, he named as President, and Joseph Merrefield as Treasurer. To them he assigned property,in warehouses, bonds and stocks,to the amount of about three and one-third millions of dollars, with instructions that from the income or interist of said fund, they should erect a Hospital equal or superior to any in the world, with capacity for 300 beds.

The Board, in conformity with his instructions, invited five of the most distinguished Physicians in the United States to write an Essay upon Hospital Construction and Organization—paying to each writer five hundred dollars for his essay. They appointed John S. Billings, Assistant Surgeon General, as Medical Superintendent of the Hospital, and sent him to Europe to visit, observe, and report on the most advanced Hospitals on that Continent and Great Britan. Mr. King the President of the Board was also detailed on a similar mission.

The result of their observations, being reported to the Board, the plans for the "Johns Hopkins Hospital" were matured, with Cabot & Chandler, of Boston, as chief Architects and John R.

Niernsee of Baltimore, consulting Architect. Wm. E. Marshall was appointed Superintenent, who resigning in five years, was succeded by Mr. Wm. H. Leeke, under whose supernitendency, the Hospital was finished.

It consists of a large Administration Building, 182 feet wide, fronting west on Broadway, commencing 150 feet east of the street, the basement of which begins on ground 100 feet above tidewater, three stories in height, with a cupola 170 feet high. It is built of pressed brick, in black cement, trimmed with Blue Cheat River Stone. North and South of this structure, 50 feet distant on either side, are the Male and Female Pay Wards, exactly alike, of same material, and copper roofed. These are intended for such patients as are able to pay for private rooms, (strangers in the city, or single men and women, who may be boarding at hotels or boarding houses), who will doubtless prefer being treated here, to remaining there, as the medical, surgical and other attendance, (notably of good nurses), will be much more likely to lead to early convalescence than elsewhere. A large octagon ward and common wards will receive the other patients, each common ward containing 24 beds.

The Nurses Home, or Training School for Nurses, will educate women up to an ability to be of the greatest service to the sick both in and out of the hospital.

No cases of contagious diseases will be admitted to the hospital, and the very best medical and surgical talent will at all times be employed regardless of expense. The hospital is now completed and about to be furnished, and the staff of officers will be appointed about the 1st of August. The hospital will be opened for patients on the 1st of October next. There has been expended in all nearly a million and a half in its erection, all of which amount is income, not a dollar of the principal having been used for its construction, or in any attendant expenses.

HOME HOSPITAL.

1905 Druid Hill Avenue.

This hospital is all that its name implies—an institution of a private character, provided with every convenience to insure comfort and cheer to patients, and is the only one of the kind in the city. It was established one year ago by Mrs. S. J. Macelroy, under whose careful management it has continued to prosper. It occupies a three-story brick building of modern design, pleasantly located in one of the most pleasant sections of the city. The rooms are of convenient size, nicely furnished, well ventilated, and are pervaded with a homelike air. The attendants are at the command of patients at all times by means of electric annunciators, and everything been arranged to lighten the sufferings of the afflicted. The hospital is open to all physicians, and both male and female patients are received, but no contagious diseases are admitted. Dr. Alan P. Smith is the principal physician, and others, prominent in the medical profession are in attendance when the occasion requires. Mrs. Macelroy, the founder and who is in charge, is a professional and thoroughly-skilled nurse, who was formerly connected with various hospitals in this city. It affords a pleasant asylum for those suffering from various ailments and who desire the benefit of the best medical attendance.

THE MARYLAND HOSPITAL FOR THE INSANE

was established at Spring Grove, near Catonsville, in 1852, is a State institution, and is governed by a board of nine managers appointed by the Governor. The building is granite, three stories in height, and consists of a centre building with a frontage of ninety feet, and two wings each extending back two hundred and forty feet, so arranged that there is a thorough classification of the patients. The wing occupied by the men, contains spacious halls, sitting rooms, parlor, dining room, single and double bed rooms, with all modern conveniences. The other wing is similar in all its arrangements for the female patients. The superintendent's, clerk's, apothecary offices, the general parlor, officer's dining-room and chambers, library, billiard room and chapel are in the centre building, also an amusement room, where weekly dances, concerts and theatrical performances are held, which have been found very beneficial to the patients. The culinary arrangements are in the rear of the centre building and have all modern improvements for cooking by steam. The laundry and heating apparatus are in a separate building at some distance from the main building. Throughout the building there are water plugs with supply of hose, so arranged that each floor can be flooded in a few moments.

For the information of those desirous of placing either pay, county or city patients under treatment in the Maryland Hospital. The following requirements and directions are appended.

The Act of Legislature, chapter No. 351, 1876, allows the hospital to receive private or pay patients to the number of 75. Private or pay patients can only be received upon the certificate of two respectable physicians, which must accompany the patient and be delivered to the superintendent. At the same time the committee must sign the "obligation," which must also be signed by some person resident in the city of Baltimore, as a surety for the fulfillment of the "obligation."

The rate of weekly charges for pay patients will be fixed by the superintendent, acting under the Board of Managers. The sum agreed upon by the superintendent and the committee must be paid in advance.

Educational Institutions.

—o—

MARYLAND INSTITUTE FOR THE INSTRUCTION OF THE BLIND.

North Avenue and St. Paul Street.

Incorporated 1863. This institute is admirably located, just on the confines of the city. Its grounds are ample for the necessary out-door exercise required for the health of students. The building is large and being constructed for this special purpose, is adapted in every way to fill all the requirements.

The object of the institute is purely educational, and in no way is it a home or asylum. The blind students received must be both physically and mentally capable.

The expense of maintaining each pupil is $300 per year, this sum includes everything excepting clothes and railway fares. The State of Maryland has made provision for the instruction of twenty blind children, whose guardians are unable to pay for their tuition, this number is made up from appointments by the Governor, to whom application should be made, with information connected with the applicant. The aim of the institute is to give the inmates such instruction, both in literature and the various trades open to blind persons, as shall enable them in part, if not in whole, to maintain themselves, and to inspire them with confidence, which is so necessary to their afflicted state.

A board of directors, nine in number, compose the governing body.

President—B. F. Newcomer.

Secretary—John T. Morris.

Treasnrer—W. J. Doyle.

Superintendent—F. D. Morrison.

Attending Physician—James A. Steuart, M. D.

MARYLAND SCHOOL FOR THE COLORED BLIND AND DEAF MUTES.

(649 W. Saratoga Street.)

This School was organized in 1872, for the purpose of instructing the Deaf, Dumb, and the Blind Colored Children of the State. Its organization was authorized by the State, and it is supported by State appropriations. Its management is intrusted to the Boards of Directors of the "Maryland School of the Deaf and Dumb," and the "Maryland Institution for the Instruction of the Blind," and its methods of Instruction and Training are modeled after those institutions. Every provision has been made there for the education of every Deaf and Dumb or Blind colored child in the State, free of all expense to the parents, except that of clothing.

It is a school, and not an Asylum or Home. The School Session commences on the 15th of September, and closes on the 20th of June. All Deaf and Dumb or Blind Colored Children between the ages of 9 and 18 years, who have sufficient capacity (mental and physical) to receive instruction, may be admitted on application to the Superintendent of the Institution. The Board of Directors feel that the advantages of the School have not been properly appreciated by the colored people of the State, which is no doubt owing to their lack of knowledge in regard to it.

All the branches of instruction in the public schools for colored children are taught in this school, and in addition pupils are instructed in the trades of broom making, chair caning, sewing, and such others as are adapted to their capacity and wants.

The pupils of this School have expressed their deep appreciation of their instruction, and fully realize that it will aid them in obtaining a living and probably relieve them from becoming dependent on public charity.

Superintendent—F. D. Morrison.

Attending Physician—H. Boyd Wylie, M. D.

MARYLAND SCHOOL FOR THE DEAF AND DUMB.

Founded in 1868. This institution is situated at Frederick, and derives its principal support from the State. Parents desiring to place their children at this school should make application to the Orphans Court of the county in which they reside. Pupils from other States are received on payment of $200 per annum. The pupils are cared for in every particular by this school, except railway fares and clothing. A liberal supply of the latter is required, and all inmates must be allowed good outfits from time to time as their needs shall demand. The applicant must be between the age of 9 and 18. The session commences the first Wednesday in September, and closes the last Wednesday in June. Pupils must be present at the beginning of session, and remain till the close; no exceptions are made except in case of sickness or by special consent of the Board of Visitors. The object of the school is to instruct the inmates in such branches of industry as may aid them in supporting themselves, and in giving them the benefits of the best teaching admissible in their particular cases; in communication both by signs, articulation and the lip language. These means of making oneself understood are constantly making great strides forward, and it is wonderful with such an institution within their reach that more do not profit by its teachings.

In the case of each pupil entering the institution, it is desirable to obtain written answers to the following questions:

1. What is the full name of the applicant?

2. What is the year, month, day and place of birth?

3. Was he born deaf; if so, was there any cause which is supposed to have operated before birth? If not, at what age did he lose his hearing, and by what disease or accident?

4. Is the deafness total or partial? If the latter, what is the degree of hearing? Is it of any practical benefit to him in his intercourse with others.

5. Have any attempts been made to communicate instruction?

6. Has he had the measles, scarlet fever, mumps or whooping cough? Has he been vaccinated?

7. Is he laboring under any bodily infirmaty, such as palsy, nervous trembling, defective vision, or does he show any signs of mental imbicility or idiocy?

8. Are there any cases of deafness in the same family, or among the collateral branches of kindred? if so, at what age and from what cause did they become so?

9. How many brothers and sisters has he?

10. What are the names, occupation and Post-office address of the parents?

11. Was there any relationship between the parents before marriage?

All letters addressed to the Principal, in regard to the Deaf and Dumb, will receive prompt attention.

THOMAS WILSON SANITARIUM FOR CHILDREN.

Office, No. 301 N. Charles Street.

Endowment $500,000. The trustees having in charge this work have purchased 167 acres on the Western Maryland R. R., and have improved it so to best meet the demands of this particular charity. At present the work is confined to taking poor women with sick children to the Sanitarium, for the day, and returning them at night, though about fourteen mothers with sick children can be kept over night. It is intended to have a number of cottages on the grounds where permanent accommodations will be given, in addition to the day excursions which are given at present. The particular advantages of the location and grounds cannot be over estimated. The work will be fully developed in the next two years, and will be of incalculable benefit for those whom it is designed.

Dental.

DENTAL CODE OF ETHICS.

ARTICLE I.

The Duties of the Profession to their Patients.

Section 1. The dentist should be ever ready to respond to the wants of his patrons, and should fully recognize the obligations involved in the discharge of his duties toward them. As they are, in most cases, unable to correctly estimate the character of his operations; his own sense of right must guarantee faithfulness in their performance. His manner must be firm, yet kind and sympathizing, so as to gain the respect and confidence of his patients, and even the simplest case committed to his care should receive that attention which is due to operations performed on living and sensitive tissues.

Sec. 2. It is not expected that the patient will possess a very extended, or a very accurate knowledge of professional matters. The dentist should make due allowance for this, patiently explaining many things that may appear quite clear to himself, thus endeavoring to educate the public mind so that it will properly appreciate the beneficial efforts of our profession. He should encourage no false hopes by promising success, when in the nature of the case there is uncertainty.

Sec. 3. The dentist should be temperate in all things, keeping mind and body in the best possible health, that his patients may have the benefit of that clearness of judgment and skill, which is their right.

ARTICLE II.

Maintaining Professional Character.

Section 1. A member of the dental profession is bound to maintain its honor, and labor earnestly to extend its sphere of usefulness. He should avoid everything in language and conduct calculated to dishonor his profession, and should ever manifest a due respect for his brethren. The young should show special respect for their seniors; the aged, special encouragement to their juniors.

Sec. 2. The person and office arrangement of the dentist should indicate that he is a gentleman, and he should sustain a high-toned moral character.

Sec. 3. It is unprofessional to resort to public advertisements, cards, handbills, posters, or signs, calling attention to peculiar styles of work, prices for services, special modes of operating, or to claim superiority over neighboring practitioners; to publish reports of cases, or certificates in public prints, to go from house to house to solicit operations, to recommend or circulate nostrums, or to perform any other similar act. But nothing in this section shall be so construed as to imply that it is unprofessional for a dentist to announce in the public prints, or by card, simply their names, occupation and place of business; or, in the same manner, to announce their removal, absence from or return to business; or to issue to their patients appointment cards, having a fee bill for professional services thereon.

Sec. 4. When consulted by the patient of another practitioner, he should guard against inquiries or hints disparaging to the family Dentist, or calculated to weaken the patient's confidence in him, and if the interests of the patient will not be endangered thereby, the case should be temporarily treated and referred back to the family dentist.

Sec. 5. When general rules shall bave been adopted by members of the profession practicing in the same localities, in relation to fees, it is unprofessional and dishonorable to depart from those rules, except when variation of circumstances require it. And it is ever to be regarded as unprofessional to warrant operations or work as an inducement to patronage.

ARTICLE III.

THE RELATIVE DUTIES OF DENTISTS AND PHYSICIANS.

SEC, 1. The dentist is professionally united to diseases of the dental organs and mouth. With these he should be more familiar than the general practitioner is expected to be; and while he recognizes the superiority of the physician in regard to the diseases of the general system, the latter is under equal obligations to respect his higher attainments in the treatment of diseases of the oral cavity. When this principle governs, there can be no conflict or diversity of professional interests.

ARTICLE IV.

THE MUTUAL DUTIES OF THE PROFESSION AND THE PUBLIC.

Dentists are frequent witnesses and, at the same time, the best judges of the impositions perpetrated by quacks, and it is their duty to enlighten and warn the public in regard to them. For this and many other benefits conferred by the competent and honorable dentist, the profession is entitled to the confidence and respect of the public, who should always discriminate in favor of the true men of science and integrity, against the empirc and imposter.

The public has no right to tax the time and talents of the profession to examinations, prescriptions, or in any way, without proper remunerations.

BALTIMORE COLLEGE OF DENTAL SURGERY.

Cor. Franklin and Eutaw Streets.

Baltimore has the honor of originating one profession, Dentistry. In its early stages, practiced in a rude, and savage manner by all kinds of quacks; and as a despised appendage of the country doctors practice. In Baltimore, the first steps were taken which have elevated Dentistry to the rank it now holds.

A graduate in medicine who had adopted dentistry as his calling, perceiving, the relations of the two professions, applied to a medical college in this city, already venerable in the rank of schools for the formal recognition of dentistry; and the founding by that institution of a chair, or chairs of dentistry. "Dentistry indeed!" A mere trade to ask for partnership with medicine." The out come of this refusal was the founding, in 1839 of the "Baltimore College of Dental Surgery" the first, and for some time the only dental college in the world, Europe being nearly thirty years behind us in this direction. This college has ever since aimed at being first and foremost as an educational institute. It has graduated eleven hundred and sixty-eight students, and has drawn its patronage from all parts of the United States and the West Indies, and from many countries in Europe. Its graduates are scattered all over the civilized world. They are located in nearly every city of Europe. They lead the profession in all the great centres of civilization, and have won eminence and renown in England, France, Russia, Prussia, Switzerland, Spain and Italy. They have carried the honors of the institution into Asia, Australia and the land of the Pyramids; while in every State in the United States they have established their own worth and the reputation of their Alma Mater.

This college may well point with pride to the standing of its graduates. Many of them have reached high stations in the profession; many have become renowned for their attainments, original discoveries and writings. They have met with signal honor abroad, nearly every Court-dentist in Europe being a graduate of this institution. Very many of them are men of broad culture, who have been previously trained in other high educational institutions; and, collectively, they have developed a degree of worth and usefulness which reflects the highest credit upon the College.

During the years of the existence of this school, nineteen hundred and ninety-nine students (1999) have attended its annual sessions.

The Baltimore College of Dental Surgery is the only dental college in the world which conducts its final examinations publicly, and with the exception of the University of Virginia, and, perhaps, the Johns Hopkins University of Baltimore, is the only American educational institution which does this. A board of visitors consisting of about eighty of the most eminent men in the dental profession are represented annually by a committee, to witness the final examinations, and advise with the Faculty as to the fitness of the candidates for graduation. It would be better still were the power to grant diplomas transferred from the Faculty to this board, as the sympathy of the professor for his deficient pupil often leads astray his cooler judgment. Much teaching and much practicing too, of dentistry, is necessary to make the practitioner capable. To merely learn the outlines of dentistry amid the struggles for a medical diploma is not a dental education. The old Baltimore school recognizes this and has in its outfit the most extensive and elaborate organization and apparatus for the study of "practical dentistry." Its buildings, infirmary, three separate laboratories, lecture hall, museum, all illustrate the statement made that "practical dentistry" is recognized as the need; and that he who simply knows the books, and has no dentistry in his fingers is, however brilliant he may be as a scholar, lacking in the one thing needful. Entering now upon its forty-fifth year of usefulness, this college, the faculty of which has in the past, held so many distinguished names is, it is hoped, no less efficient than in former years. The experience of the past is carefully studied, and it is certain no good thing is let lapse into disuse, while careful scrutiny of the new that arises is constantly made.

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND DENTAL DEPARTMENT.

The University of Maryland is the third oldest medical university in the country, having been chartered in 1807. A Department of Dental Surgery was organized in 1882, by special charter from the Legislature of Maryland, to afford such a training to the dental student as the present status of the science demands.

In the University of Maryland the dental student has the opportunity to attend lectures on oral surgery, and on many other branches directly connected with his specialty, the advantages of which cannot be over estimated. The institution is equipped with the latest and most improved appliances, and in operative and mechanical dentistry embraces everything pertaining to dental science. The original Infirmary and Laboratory Building of the Dental Department has been greatly enlarged during the present year to meet the requirements of the large classes and the rapidly increasing number of infirmary patients.

A large and interesting collection contains many specimens of interest to dental students. Immediately adjoing the Dental Department is the University Hospital, in which are held daily surgical and other clinics, affording the dental student ample opportunities of witnessing every variety of surgical work. Ample clinical material is furnished by the hospital for dental purposes. The professors of the Faculty of Physic are connected with several charity hospitals from which further material is added to the number of clinical patients.

The Dental Infirmary and Laboratory are open daily (Sundays excepted) during the entire year.

Pharmaceutical.

—o—

MARYLAND COLLEGE OF PHARMACY.

Situated on Aisquith Street, near Fayette. Established in 1841. The regular session for the season begins about October 1st, and continues until March 1st. The curriculum will embrace as heretofore the several branches of Pharmacy, Botany, Materia Medica, Practical and Analytical Chemistry, and Practical Pharmaceutical Manipulation.

Ample means for illustrating the lectures are in possession of the College.

"Requisite for graduation": Good moral character, twenty-one years of age, an apprenticeship of four years to the apothecary business; attendance upon two full courses of lectures, the last of which shall be at this College; attendance upon the course of instruction in Analytical Chemistry; the presentation to the Treasurer, on or before February 1st, of an original thesis, of not less than fifteen pages, upon some subject pertaining to pharmacy, the graduation fee, the matriculation tickets, the tickets of the professors of the various courses prescribed by, and pursued at this college, and a letter from his employer, testifying to his age, and the length of his apprenticeship. All candidates will be required to pass a practical examination in Analytical Chemistry, Pharmaceutical Manipulations and Materia Medica; a written examination on Chemistry, Pharmacy and Materia Medica, under the supervision of the Board of examiners, assisted by the Professors; and an additional written and practical examination by the Board of Examiners, the per centage of correct answers required to insure graduation being fifty per cent. in each branch, and sixty per cent. of the whole number of questions propounded.

The degree conferred at graduation is that of Graduate of Pharmacy.

A student who has had three years and six months actual experience in the apothecary business, who has not attained the age of twenty one, may apply for final examination at the expiration of two collegiate courses, and should the examination prove successful, shall receive a certificate of proficiency, signed by the Board of Trustees. At the expiration of his term of apprenticeship, and upon attaining his majority, he shall be entitled to receive his diploma upon surrender of the certificate.

The matriculation and lecture tickets must be taken out at the opening of the session, and may be procured of the Treasurer, Samuel Mansfield.

AMERICAN PHARMACEUTICAL ASSOCIATION.

Organized September, 1852.

ARTICLE 1. This Association shall be called the "American Pharmaceutical Association." Its aim shall be to unite the educated and reputable pharmacist and druggists of America in the following objects:

"1st. To improve and regulate the drug market by preventing the importation of inferior, adulterated or deteriorated drugs, and by detecting and exposing home adulterations.

"2d. To encourage proper relations between druggists, pharmaceutists, physicians and the people at large, which shall promote the public welfare and tend to mutual strength and advantage.

"3d. To improve the science and art of pharmacy by diffusing scientific knowledge among apothecaries and druggists, fostering pharmaceutical literature, developing talent, stimulating discovery and invention, and encouraging home products and manufacture in the several departments of the drug business.

"4th. To regulate the system of apprenticeship and employment, so as to prevent, so far as practicable, the evils flowing from deficient training in the responsible duties of preparing, dispensing and selling medicines.

"5th. To suppress empiricism, and to restrict the dispensing and sale of medicines to regularly educated druggists and apothecaries.

"6th. To uphold standards of authority in the education, theory and practice of pharmacy.

"7th. To create and maintain a standard of professional honesty equal to the amount of our professional knowledge, with a view to the highest good and greatest protection to the public."

FROM THE BY-LAWS ON MEMBERSHIP.

CHAPTER VIII.

ARITCLE 1. Every pharmaceutist and druggist of good moral and professional standing, whether in business on his own account, retired from business, or employed by another, and those teachers of pharmacy, chemistry and botany who may be specially interested in pharmacy and materia medica, are eligible to membership.

ART. 2. Any person eligible to membership may make application in writing, with the endorsement of any two members of the Association in good standing, to any member of the Council, who shall report his application to the said Council.

ART. 3. No person shall be a member of this Association, nor shall his name be placed upon the rolls until he shall have signed the Constitution, and paid into the treasury the sum of five dollars as an initiation fee, and the annual contribution for the current year, which sum must accompany the application.

ART. 4. Every member shall pay in advance to the treasurer the sum of five dollars, as his yearly contribution, and is liable to lose his membership by neglecting to pay said contribution for three successive years.

MARYLAND STATE PHARMACEUTICAL ASSOCIATION.

At a meeting held October 6th, 1882, at the Baltimore College of Pharmacy, the following preamble and resolutions were passed :

WHEREAS, The general progress and well-being of our profession demand that the Pharmacists everywhere be thoroughly organized, and

WHEREAS, The business relations existing between Pharmacists, and wholesale and manufacturing Druggists are and ought to be of the most intimate and confidential character, and

WHEREAS, The Pharmacists, the wholesale and the manufacturing Druggists have, thus far, had no organization in this State for their mutual protection, benefit and the general advancement of pharmaceutical interests and knowledge :

Therefore, be it Resolved, That a committee of fifteen be appointed to correspond with and invite every Pharmacist, wholesale and manufacturing Druggist in the State to meet in the city of Baltimore on the second Tuesday of May next. to organize an association for the purpose set forth in the preamble.

Be it further Resolved, That the said committee be and are hereby instructed to draft a suitable Constitution and By-Laws, to be submitted to the proposed association for their consideration, and that they do such other work as will, in their judgment, be useful to and facilitate the speedy organization of the said proposed association.

Be it further Resolved, That we cordially tender to the Pharmacists, the wholesale and the manufacturing Druggists of the State the use of the College Building as a place of meeting.

In response to the call issued to the Druggists and Pharmacists of the State of Maryland, a large number of said Apothecaries assmbled at the hall of the Maryland College of Pharmacy on Tuesday, May 8, 1883. DR. EDWIN EARECKSON was elected as temporary chairman, with CHAS. CASPARI, JR., as secretary pro tem.

DR. JOSEPH ROBERTS offered a resolution announcing those present as organized into a MARYLAND STATE PHARMACEUTICAL ASSOCIATION, and moved the appointment of a committee to nominate permanent officers and to present a draft of a constitution and by-laws. Both resolutions were adopted.

Extract from Constitution :

ARTICLE 1. This association shall be known as "The Maryland State Pharmaceutical Association."

ARTICLE 2. The object of this association is to bring together the reputable Pharmacists, Chemists and Druggists of the State, that they may, by thorough organization and united effort, advance the science of pharmacy, promote scientific research, and in the interest of the public, strive to have enacted just, yet stringent laws, to prevent the adulteration of food and medicines, and to confine the sale of medicines to regularly educated pharmacists.

ARTICLE 3. This association shall consist of active, life and honorary members, and shall hold meetings annually.

ARTICLE 4. The officers of this association shall consist of a President, three Vice-Presidents, a Secretary, a Local Secretary, a Treasurer, and an Executive Committee of three members. All officers of this association shall be elected annually by ballot, and hold office until their successors are elected and qualified.

Extract from By.Laws :

ARTICLE 6. This association shall hold its meetings annually, upon the second Tuesday in May, and at such place and hour as may be named. Special meetings may be called upon the written application of ten members, directed to the President, said written application, before being acted on, must be submitted to the Board of Trustees, and receive the approval of a majority of said Board of Trustees, and at least twenty-five days' notice will be given of the time, place and object of meeting in special session.

ART. 7. All application for membership must be handed to the Executive Committeee for investigation, and then reported to the Association. Election of members shall be by ballot. Five blank balls shall defeat an election.

Every applicant for membership, after receiving the requisite number of ballots for his election, shall, upon the paying of one dollar as his initiation fee, and two dollars as his annual dues for the first year, and, upon signing the Constitution, become a member of the Association.

The initiation fee is one dollar. The annual dues, two dollars.

ART. 8. Any Pharmacist, Chemist, Wholesale or Manufacturing Druggist of good moral and professional standing is eligible to membership.

ART. 9. Any member three years in arrears for his annual dues shall, after due notification from the Treasurer, lose his rights as a member.

The next annual meeting will be held Sept. 19th and 20th, 1888, at Baltimore.

AN ACT

Entitled "An Act to prevent incompetent persons from conducting business as Pharmacists, or vending at retail, drugs, medicines or chemicals for medical use, in the City of Baltimore."

WHEREAS, Many unskilled and unqualified persons are engaged in vending at retail, mixing and compounding drugs, medicines and chemicals, to the great danger of the health and lives of the people of the City of Baltimore. and it is expedient that legislation be had to remedy said evil, therefore

SEC. 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That the term or name PHARMACIST, in the meaning and scrope of this Act, does mean, embrace and apply to all persons engaged in vending at retail drugs, medicines and chemicals for medical use, and compounding and dispensing physicians' prescriptions, either as owners of stores or as managing assistants in charge of stores.

SEC. 2. And be it enacted, That any person who, after the passage of this Act, does vend at retail drugs, medicines or chemicals for medical use, or compound and dispense physicians' prescriptions in the City of Baltimore, without complying with the requirements of this Act, unless he shall be employed under the circumstances contemplated in Section 9, shall be deemed guilty of misdemeanor, and subject to a penalty or fine of fifty dollars for each and every week he shall continue to vend at retail drugs, medicines or chemicals for medicinal use, or compound and dispense physicians' prescriptions in the City of Baltimore, without complying with all the requirements of this Act. Said penalty or fine to be sued for in the name of the Commissioners of Pharmacy and Practical Chemistry, appointed under this Act, and before a single justice of the peace, in the same manner as small debts now are. One-half of said penalty or fine to go to and be the property of the informer, the balance to be paid to the Treasurer of the Maryland College of Pharmacy, for the use of said College.

SEC. 3. And be it enacted, That the Maryland College of Pharmacy shall nominate biennially, of the most skilled and compe tent pharmacists of the City of Baltimore, ten persons, from amongst whom the Governor shall appoint three Commissioners, whose duty it shall be to faithfully and impartially execute, or cause to be executed, all the provisions and requirements of this Act.

They shall, upon application, and in such manner and at such place as they may determine, examine each and every person who shall desire to engage in vending at retail drugs, medicines or chemicals for medical use, or in compounding and dispensing physicians' prescriptions in the City of Baltimore, touching his competency and qualifications, and upon being satisfied that the person so examined is competent and qualified to vend at retail drugs, medicines and chemicals for medicinal use, and compound and dispense physicians' prescriptions safely, and without jeopardy to the health and lives of the people of the city of Baltimore, they, or any two of them, shall grant such person a certificate of competency, and register him as a pharmacist.

SEC. 4. And be it enacted, That the Commissioners appointed under this Act shall be styled and known as the Commissioners of Pharmacy and Practical Chemistry, and shall hold office for two years, and thereafter until their successors have been appointed and qualified.

Said Commissioners shall, within thirty days after notification of their appointment, each subscribe to an oath before the Clerk of the Superior Court of Baltimore City, to impartially and faithfully discharge the duties prescribed by this Act.

The position of any Commissioner appointed under this Act, who shall fail to qualify within the time and in the manner named, shall be vacant.

The Governor shall fill all vacancies occurring from amongst the persons nominated by the Maryland College of Pharmacy, under Section 3 of this Act.

SEC. 5. And be it enacted, That each and every person, before commencing to vend, at retail, drugs, medicines or chemicals for medical use, or to compound and dispense physicians' prescriptions in the city of Baltimore, as managing owner of a store or as managing assistant of a store, shall register as a pharmacist under the provisions of this Act.

SEC. 6. And be it enacted, That every person who shall, at the time that this Act goes into effect, be engaged in vending, at retail, drugs, medicines, and chemicals for medicinal use, and compounding and dispensing physicians' prescriptions in the city of Baltimore, and registered as an Apothecary under an Act entitled "An Act to prevent incompetent persons from conducting the business of Druggist and Apothecary in the City of Baltimore," approved March 23d, 1870, shall be deemed a registered Pharmacist within the meaning of this Act.

SEC. 7. And be it enacted, That every person holding a diploma from a regular chartered and recognized College or School of Pharmacy, based upon a full apprenticeship of four years as a Pharmacist, and who presents satisfactory evidence of these facts to the said Commissioners of Pharmacy and Practical Chemistry, shall be deemed competent, and entitled to register as a Pharmacist.

SEC. 8. And be it enacted, That said Commissioners of Pharmacy and Practical Chemistry shall demand and receive from each applicant for a certificate of compentency whom they examine, five dollars for each examination, and shall likewise be entitled to demand and receive one dollar from every person whom they register. The money received under the provisions of this section shall be used and applied by said Commissioners to defray the expenses accruing or arising under this Act.

SEC. 9. And be it enacted, That in case of the death of a registered Pharmacist, doing business as such in the City of Baltimore, the business of said Pharmacist may be continued by his heirs, executors or administrators, for the benefit of said heirs, for a period of six months, after which time, if the business is continued by said heirs, executors or administrators, they must employ a registered Pharmacist to conduct it.

SEC. 10. And be it enacted, That an Act entitled "An Act to prevent incompetent persons from conducting the business of Druggist or Apothecary in the City of Baltimore," approved March 23d, 1870, is hereby repealed, and declared void of effect so soon as the Commissioners of Pharmacy and Practical Chemistry shall be appointed and qualified under the provisions of of this Act, and that all Acts and parts of Acts, so far as they conflict with this Act, are declared void and of no effect.

SEC. 11. And be it enacted, That this Act shall take effect and date from the time of its passage.

CODE OF ETHICS.

Pharmacy being a profession which demands knowledge, skill and integrity on the part of those engaged in it, and being associated with the medical profession in the responsible duties of preserving the public health, and dispensing the useful, though often dangerous agents adapted to the cure of disease, its members should be united on some general principles to be observed in their several relations in each other, to the medical profession, and to the public.

With this object in view, as well as the elevation of the professional standard, the members of the Maryland College of Pharmacy have agreed upon the following principles for their government in their business pursuits:

ARTICLE 1. That we adhere to the National Pharmacopæia as our guide in the preparation of all officinal medicines, so far at least as the strength of said preparations is concerned, and also to the mode of preparation, except in such cases where we may conceive the same result attainable by another process believed by us to be preferable.

ARTICLE 2. We discountenance all secret formulæ between physicians and apothecaries, and hold it to be the duty of every member of this college to communicate at the monthly meetings all improvements in official formulæ, manipulation, apparatus, etc., and such useful hints as may have occurred to his mind from time to time in relation to the business, for the sake of adding to the general fund of knowledge, and to promote the advancement of the profession.

ARTICLE 3. As the diagnosis and treatment of diseases belong to the province of a distinct profession, and as a pharmaceutical education does not qualify the graduate for these responsible offices, we should, where it is practicable, refer applicants for medical aid to a regular physician.

ARTICLE 4. We discountenance all connection between Apothecaries and Physicians, in stores which are owned by Physicians and conducted by Apothecaries under their own names. And being convinced that the practice of allowing Physicians a percentage on the price of their prescriptions is not only highly disreputable to both Physician and Apothecary engaged therein, but dishonest and injurious to the public interest, we do not consider any Apothecary who is guilty of this dishonorable practice entitled to associate with us as a member of this college.

ARTICLE 5. The Apothecary should be remunerated by the public for his knowledge and skill, and in his charges should be regulated by the time consumed in preparation, as well as by the value of the article sold. Although location and other circumstances necessarily affect the rate of charges at different establishments, no Apothecary should, intentionally, undersell his neighbors with a view to their injury.

ARTICLE 6. One of the principles duties of the Apothecary is to supply himself with genuine and pure articles of Materia Medica, and such chemical and pharmaceutical preparations as he may not prepare himself. In the selection of many articles, such as powders and some essential oils, to procure them genuine and unadulterated, it is necessary to rely on the integrity of the wholesale druggist; we, therefore, hold it to be our duty to avoid the druggist who would knowingly furnish a sophisticated or impure article of any description whatever; and as compounding prescriptions and dispensing medicines at retail form no part of the business of the wholesale druggist, but is highly injurious to our trade, we cannot be expected to make our purchases from those who are addicted to either of the above practices. Any member of this college becoming cognizant of either of these practices, shall be required to make it known to the college at its next meeting.

ARTICLE 7. Both Physicians and Apothecaries are liable to commit errors, the former in writing prescriptions, the latter in compounding them; we, therefore, deem it to be our duty, when we are satisfied that an error has been committed in writing a prescription, to use commendable tact in concealing the same from the patient, so as to avoid compromising the reputation of the Physician. On the other hand, when the error is on the part of the Apothecary, the Physician should feel bound to screen him from undue censure. We should feel bound to protect each other; never giving currency to a report that will affect the reputation of a brother Pharmacist, and which may possibly have no foundation in fact.

ART. 8. As there are many powerful substances that rank as poisons, which are constantly kept by Apothecaries and prescribed by Physicians, and which are only safe in their hands—as arseni-us acid, some vegetable alkaloids, ergot, cantharides, etc.—we old that the Apothecary is not justified in vending these powerul agents indiscriminately to persons unqualified to adminster hem, and that a prescription should always be required, except n those cases where the poisons are intended for the destruction f animals or vermin—and in these instances only with the uarantee of a responsible person. And we hold that when there s good reason to believe that the purchaser is habitually using piates or stimulants to excess; every consientious Apothecary hould discourage such practice.

ART. 9. As the By-Laws of the College require an educational tandard to entitle the student to graduate, it is earnestly recommended that members exercise due care, and employ none but hose possessing sufficient educational attainments to enable them o pass the required examination, and to that end it is recommended that they do not employ youths under the age of sixteen years.

THE DIRECTORY FOR PROFESSIONAL NURSES.

St. Paul cor. Saratoga Streets.

The Medical and Chirurgical Faculty seeing the need of competent nurses, in 1882 established what is known as "The Directory for Nurses," where they, after examination as to their competence, and answering certain questions satisfactorily to the board, are, on payment of one dollar, are registered as nurses, upon whom Physicians can depend to take care of their patients; and the patients feel satisfied that they are in capable hands for carrying out the instructions of their medical advisor. It is now in charge of register

MEDICAL JOURNALS OF MARYLAND.

The Maryland Medical Journal was established in 1877, by Drs. H. E. T. Manning and T. A. Ashby, as a monthly publication.

In 1880 the Journal was changed to a semi-monthly, and in May, 1883, to a weekly issue. It is now published by the Journal Publishing Co., Dr. Wm. B. Canfield, editor, and is issued every Saturday. Each issue contains twenty pages—large double columns of reading matter—or a total of 1,040 pages per annum. The subscription price is $3.00 per year. This journal has a large and growing circulation.

BALTIMORE HEALTH DEPARTMENT.

City Hall.

This department is a branch of the city government. Its duty is to preserve the health of the city by enforcing the existing law for the proper preservation of health and for the prevention of the introduction of disease. One of its principal duties is to maintain both public and private premises in a state of cleanliness, and for this purpose all persons finding in an unhealthy condition any house, street or alley, are requested to notify the Department at once, when every effort will be made to cause its removal and to put the locality into a sanitary condition. Application may be made at any time to Dr. James A. Steuart, Health Commissioner, by mail or in person. The jurisdiction of the Department is limited by the bounds of the city, but extends to causes of nuisance, which although outside of the city, create nuisance in the city.

NATIONAL MEDICAL COLLEGE, MEDICAL DEPARTMENT OF THE COLUMBIAN UNIVERSITY.

1325 H Street, N. W.

Organized in 1821, as the Medical Department of Columbian College. It was also authorized to use the title of National Medical College. In 1873 Columbian College became Columbian University. The first class was graduated in 1822. Operations were suspended from 1834 to 1838, and from 1861 to 1863. With these exceptions, classes have been graduated each year since its founding.

—o—

ANNUAL ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE SESSION OF 1888-89.

The Sixty-Seventh Course of Lectures begins on Monday, October 1st, 1888, and continues until March 1st, 1889.

The Introductory Lecture of the Course will be delivered by Prof. W. W. Johnston, on the 1st of October, and on the following day the regular lectures will commence and continue throughout the session, beginning at 5.30 p. m. of each week-day.

The system of instruction adopted by the Medical Department of this University includes, first, a complete course of about sixty lectures, on each of the seven essential branches of medical science, viz: Anatomy, Physiology, Chemistry, Materia Medica, Surgery, Obstetrics, and the Theory and Practice of Medicine, by attendance upon which course of didactic instruction the student may become thoroughly versed in the principles of medical science. Secondly, a course of Clinical instruction, for which ample opportunities are afforded, and by means of which the general institutes of medicine taught in the lecture hall are verified, illustrated, and practically applied at the bedside under the immediate observation of the student. In conducting their Clinics the Professors spare no pains to render the student familiar with the proper methods of examining patients, analyzing symptoms, and making a correct diagnosis and prognosis of any case that may be presented. In like manner, the student is taught the art of prescribing medicines and of observing their effects, the mode of performing surgical operations, etc.; every educational facility being thus offered to render the graduate of this College a competent practitioner of medicine.

Many of the lectures are illustrated by use of the sciopticon, which has proved to be of great assistance in didactic instruction.

The Spring Course of Lectures begins early in April, and comprehends instruction in Toxicology and Chemical Analysis, Practical Physiology, Mental Diseases, Diseases of the Eye, Ear, Skin and Throat; Medical Jurisprudence, Diseases of Children, Bacteriology, Minor Surgery and Bandaging, Gynecology, and Visceral Anatomy.

UNIVERSITY OF GEORGETOWN.

Medical Department.

Organized in 1850. First class graduated in 1851; classes have been graduated each subsequent year.

ANNOUNCEMENT FOR 1888-'89.

The complete course of study in the Medical Department extends over three courses, of about seven months each. The next course will begin Monday, October 1st, 1888, and end on Saturday, February 23d, 1889. There will be a recess from December 22d, 1888, to January 2d, 1889, inclusive. A recess will also be taken during the month of March, and a course upon special branches will begin Monday. April 1st, and continue until Saturday, May 25th, 1889.

NEW COLLEGE BUILDING.

The Faculty take great pleasure in announcing that they have erected a building of handsome architectural design, beautifully situated, on H street northwest, between 9th and 10th streets, and near several of the most convenient railway lines, rendering it easily accessible from all parts of the Capitol and from the neighboring city of Alexandria.

This building is devoted exclusively to the purposes of the Medical Department. It contains spacious and well-ventilated lecture-rooms, a chemical and a physiological laboratory, a large and convenient and well-lighted dissecting-room, a library and reading-room, well stocked with current medical literature and open for the use of the students. It is heated with hot water and provided with other appurtenances, rendering it in all respects suited to the comfort and convenience of the professors and students.

HOWARD UNIVERSITY—MEDICAL DEPARTMENT.

BRIGHTWOOD AVE., N. W.

Organized in 1867. The first class graduated in 1871, and classes have been graduated each subsequent year.

ANNOUNCEMENT FOR 1888-89.

In conformity with the spirit of the organic law of the University, the Medical Department, including the Medical, Dental and Pharmaceutical Colleges, is open to all without regard to sex or race, who are qualified by good moral character, proper age and suitable education.

The twenty first annual session will begin October 1, 1888, and end March 1, 1889.

There will be two intervals of holidays—one from November 28th to December 1st, inclusive; the other from December 24th to January 1, 1889, inclusive. Final examinations will begin February 28th, 1889.

WASHINGTON CITY

affords some peculiar facilities for the study of medicine and allied branches.

There are several Libraries containing medical books, which may be consulted by the student. That of the Surgeon General's Office, Seventh and B streets, S. W., contains over 100,000 works on medicine and the collateral sciences. The Library of Congress, in the Capitol, contains about 350,000 books, many of which are medical. The Patent Office Library also contains many books on medical and the allied arts and sciences. The reading rooms of these are open from 9 to 4 o'clock daily, except Sundays.

There are also Museums which are accessible to students. The Army Medical Museum, Seventh and B streets, S. W., under charge of the Surgeon General of the Army, is probably the finest of its kind in the world. The specimens illustrate the diseases and injuries of both civil and military life; normal anatomy, both human and comparative; besides medical, surgical and transportation appliances; in all about 25,000 specimens. Open daily, except Sundays, from 9 to 4 o'clock.

The National Museum and Smithsonian Institution, situated in the Smithsonian grounds, has the largest and best collection in the country illustrating the Natural Sciences. The specimens of Materia Medica are especially useful to medical and pharmaceutical students. Open daily, except Sundays, from 9 a. m. to 4.30 p. m.

The Museum of Hygiene, southeast corner of 18th and G Sts., N. W., contains, as the name indicates, illustrations of sanitary science. It is under the charge of the Surgeon-General of the Navy. Open daily, except Sundays, from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m.

The Agricultural Department contains a museum of the products of agriculture; the Botanical Gardens, a collection of plants of all countries; and the Patent Office Museum, models of surgical appliances.

Board and rooms may be obtained in this city at reasonable prices. Board may be had at the University Dining Hall at $8 and $10 per month. Room in University Building at $10 per medical term—students furnishing their own fuel, lights and bed clothing.

PROVIDENCE HOSPITAL.

Cor. 2d and D Streets, S. E.

Established 1862.....Capacity 280.....Private.

In Charge of the Sisters of Charity—Sister Beatrice, Superior.

Providence Hospital was established June 10th, 1862, by the Sisters of Charity, for the use of the indigent sick, but during the late war was much used by the soldiers. From a small and modest beginning, under the fostering care and special interest of the late Honorable Thaddeus Stevens, of Pennsylvania, who, on all suitable occasions, befriended the Institution, and the ever-to-be remembered gratuitous services of the Medical and Surgical staff, the Institution, in all its appointments, may now be considered a model one.

The Hospital was incorporated by an act of Congress April 8th, 1864, since which year Congress has annually appropriated a sum of money for the support, medical and surgical treatment, of seventy-five indigent patients per day. During the life and Congressional service of the Hon. T. Stevens he gave this appropriation his cordial support and influence. The lamented President Garfield on more than one occasion aided by his influence the humane work of the Hospital.

Gentlemen noted for their skill have charge of special departments, such as Gynecology, Laryngology, and the Eye and Ear, so that by this division of the work, added to the regular Medical and Surgical staff, patients admitted to this Hospital can feel that they will receive the most careful and thorough treatment for all the various ailments the human system is heir to.

WASHINGTON HOSPITAL FOR FOUNDLINGS,

1715 15th, St., N. W.

Joshua Peirce, who died at Linnaean Hill, near the city of Washington, on the 11th day of April, 1869, by his last Will and Testament, which was admitted to probate at the Orphan's Court, in said city of Washington, on the 22d day of June, 1869, made the following bequest, viz:

"I give, devise, and bequeath all those fourteen certain lots, or pieces of ground, part of square number two hundred and seven, situate between R and S Streets north, and Fourteenth and Fifteenth Streets west, in the said city of Washington, in the District of Columbia, which lots are numbered from number twenty-four to number thirty-seven, inclusive, on a certain plan of subdivision of the said square, registered and recorded in the surveyor's office for the said city, in Liber W. F., folio 211, and are situated on the east side of said Fifteenth Street, at the distance of one hundred and sixty feet northward from the north side of the said R Street north, containing together in front on the said Fifteenth Street west, one hundred and thirty feet, and in depth eastward, between parallel lines, two hundred and ninety-four feet and a half inch, more or less, to Johnson Avenue, (including in the said depth a twenty-foot-wide alley, laid out through the middle of the said lots), to my friends, William M. Shuster and William H. Claggett, both of the said city of Washington, and the survivor of them, and the heirs, executors, administrators, and assigns of such survivor, in trust. Nevertheless, and to, for, and upon the uses, intents, and purposes following—that is to say: In trust to hold the said fourteen lots of ground, with the appurtenances, as and for a site for the erection of a hospital for foundlings, to be built and erected by any association, society, or institution that may hereafter be incorporated by act of Congress, as and for such hospital, and upon such incorporation, upon further trust, to grant and convey the said lots of ground and trust estate to the corporation or institution so incorporated for the said purpose of the erection of a hospital, which conveyence shall be absolute and in fee. Provided, nevertheless, That such corporation shall be approved by my said trustees, or the survivor of them, or their successors in the trust, and, if not so approved, then upon further trust to hold the said lots and trust estate, for the same purpose, until a corporation shall be so created by act of Congress, which shall meet the approval of the said trustees, or the survivor or successor of them, to whom full discretion is given in this behalf, and, upon such approval, in trust to convey as aforesaid. And I recommend to my said trustees to select an institution which shall not be under the control of any one religious sect or persuasion, and until such conveyence, I direct the taxes, charges, and assessments, and all necessary expenses of, for, and upon the said lots, and every one of them, to be paid by my executors, as they shall from time to time accrue and become due and payable, out of the residue of my estate."

DENTAL COLLEGES.

Dental Department, Columbian University.

Announcement, 1888 89.

The Regular Course of Lectures begins on Monday, October 1st. 1888, and continues until March 1st, 1889.

The Introductory Lecture of the Course will be delivered by Prof. W. W. Johnston, of the Medical Department, on the 1st of October, and on the following day the regular Lectures will commence and continue throughout the session, beginning at 5.30 P. M. of each week-day.

The system of instruction adopted by the Dental Department of this University includes, first, a complete course of about fifty lectures, on each of the seven essential branches of dental science, viz., Anatomy, Physiology, Chemistry, Materia Medica, Dental Prosthetics, Operative Dentistry, and Oral Surgery, by attendance upon which course of didactic instruction the student may become thoroughly versed in the principles of dental science. Secondly a course of Clinical instruction, for which ample opportunities are afforded, and by means of which the general institutes of dentistry taught in the lecture-hall are verified, illustrated, and practically applied at the chair under the immediate observation of the student. As, however, no amount of scientific attainment can compensate for lack of manipulative skill, a large part of the student's time is devoted to actual practice in the Infirmary, for which purpose the large and centrally located College building gives ample opportunities.

The operating-room fronts one of the capitol city's numerous Government reservations, and thus has a full, unobstructed light, so desirable in dental operations. It is furnished throughout with Morrison chairs, and all necessary appliances that will enable a student to acquire the knowledge of office practice, as well as a diversity of Clinical experience.

A large, comfortable, and well-lighted dental laboratory is supplied with all the requirements for the successful practice of Prosthetic Dentistry, and lockers are available for the safe-keeping of instruments belonging to the students.

The extracting-room is separate from the others, and is fitted up for the proper administration of the various anæsthetics, under the immediate supervision of a demonstrator thoroughly skilled in their application.

The Infirmary is open every week day for nine continuous months (being closed during the months of July, August, and September), during which time an abundance of Clinical material is readily available; in fact, fully as many patients present themselves as can possibly be attended to by the students.

DENTAL DEPARTMENT—HOWARD UNIVERSITY.

ANNOUNCEMENT, 1888-89.

Instruction in Dentistry will include Didactic and Clinical Lectures, Recitations and Practical Exercises.

The Curriculum comprises Anatomy, Physiology, Chemistry, Materia Medica, Therapeutics, Surgery and operative and Prosthetic Dentistry.

Students are required to attend two courses in all the branches and pass an examination in each before being eligible for the degree of Doctor of Dental Surgery.

GRADUATION.

Each applicant for the degree of Doctor of Dental Surgery must be twenty one years of age, and of good moral character; shall have studied with a preceptor at least one year, and shall furnish a certificate of the same, or in lieu thereof, a certificate of regular attendance in the Dental Infirmary and Laboratory; shall have attended two courses of lectures, &c., at some regular dental college, the last being at this school. Prior to the final examination he must show specimens of operations on the natural teeth which have been performed in the College Infirmary; also, at least one approved specimen case constructed at the College building, to be deposited in the College collection. He shall produce Demonstrator's certificates of proficiency in Anatomy and Dentistry, and pass the final examinations in all branches.

Graduates in Medicine desiring the degree of Doctor of Dental Surgery will be required to attend one course in the Dental College. They may be examined at the beginning of the course in primary branches and surgery. If found proficient they may then devote themselves to the especially dental branches; otherwise they will be required to attend upon those in which they are deficient and be re-examined therein at the end of the course.

Graduates in Pharmacy desiring the degree of Doctor of Dental Surgery will be required to attend two courses, omitting materia medica and chemistry, if on examination at the beginning of the course they are found proficient in them.

Pharmaceutical.

PHARMACEUTICAL DEPARTMENT—HOWARD UNIVERSITY.

Cor. 5th and Pomeroy Streets.

ANNOUNCEMENT, 1888-89.

Instruction will include Didactic Lectures, Recitations and Practical Exercises.

The Curriculum comprises Botany, Chemistry, Toxicology, Materia Medica and Pharmacy. Students are recommended to attend the course on Microscopy.

The course will open with a series of lectures upon the Pharmacopœias and systems of weights and measures used by the principal nations, and specific gravity as applied to Pharmacy. The apparatus and manipulations used in store and laboratory will then be explained. Percolation or displacement will receive special attention because of the great importance of this process. Then will follow the consideration of inorganic substances, when the knowledge gained in the study of chemistry will be reinforced without needless repetition, discussing only the preparation of the drug or chemical. All preparations of each drug will be considered together, preceded by a brief description of the characters of the active principles, its solubility, volatility, and other properties involved in the treatment to which the drug is subjected in making the preparations. The preparations from animal drugs will follow, and then a general view will be given of the officinal preparations, and the properties of many of them, to aid the student in getting a firm hold of the classification of the Pharmacepœia in groups of preparations of similar forms, which will open the way for lectures on extemporaneous pharmacy, counter and prescription practice, the proper methods of preparing pills, ointments, powders, plasters, suppositories, emulsions, lozenges, pastes, capsules, lotions, liniments, gargles, &c., the consideration of which will terminate the course.

Applicants for the degree of Doctor of Pharmacy shall be 21 years of age and of good moral character; shall have attended two courses of lectures, &c., the latter being at this school; shall have had four years' experience in practical pharmacy, and shall pass a satisfactory examination in each branch.

Graduates in medicine desiring the degree of Doctor of Pharmacy will be required to attend one course in the Pharmaceutical College, and pass a satisfactory examination in all the branches of the Curriculum. Graduates in dentistry must take two courses and pass a satisfactory examination in all the branches.
